Appetizers

Welcome . . .

Picture Topeka West as a very large restaurant, complete with a variety of tastes . . . a giant smorgasbord . . . a festive buffet of people and activities.

We have specially prepared this Chevalier Luncheon in order to satisfy your hunger for memories. As you consume the ingredients of this year-book, digest it slowly, nibble by nibble. (You'll be tempted to swallow it all at once, but use self-control: you'll want to get every bite!)

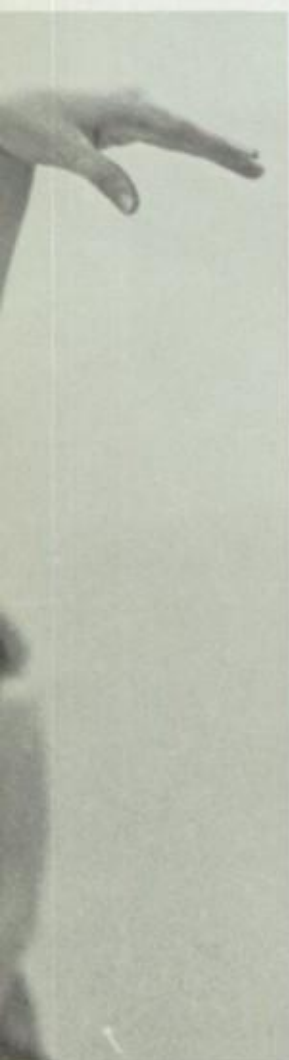

And so, with this in mind, the management would like to invite you to indulge yourself as you dine on the happenings of Topeka West, 1976 - 1977.

Dig in . . . chow down!

Gourmets

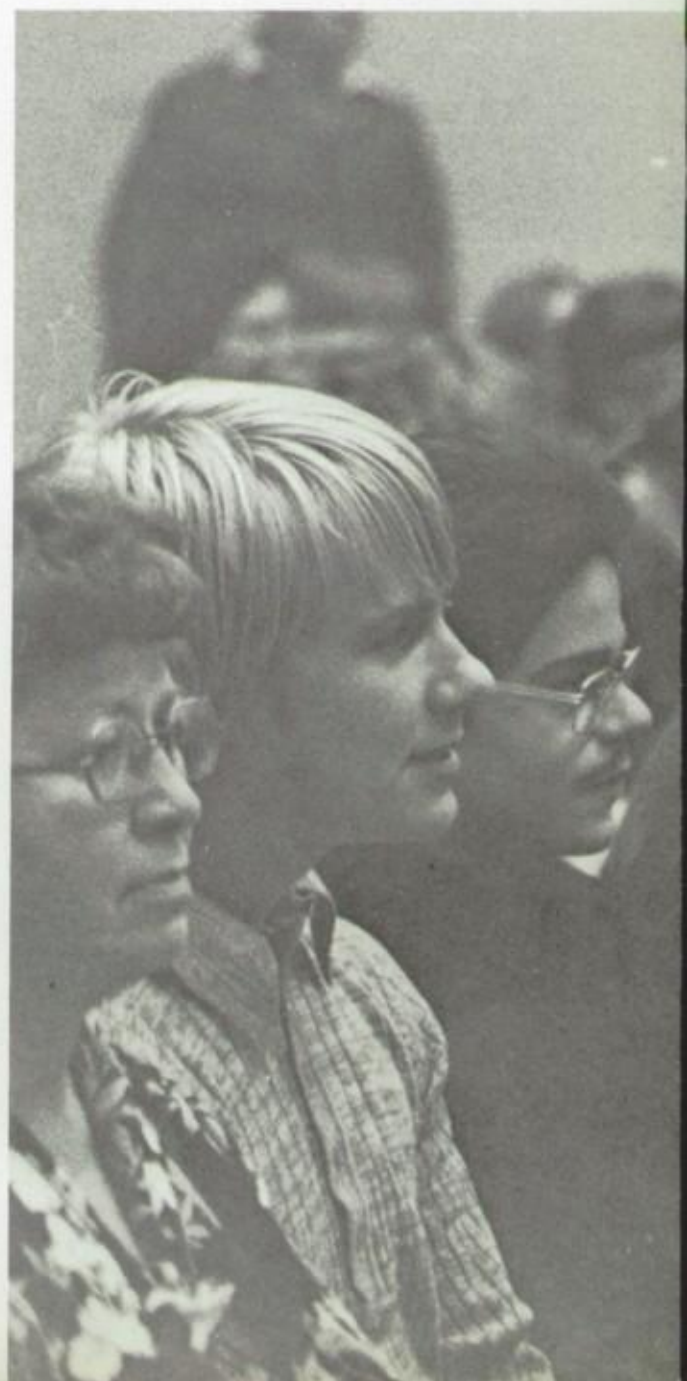

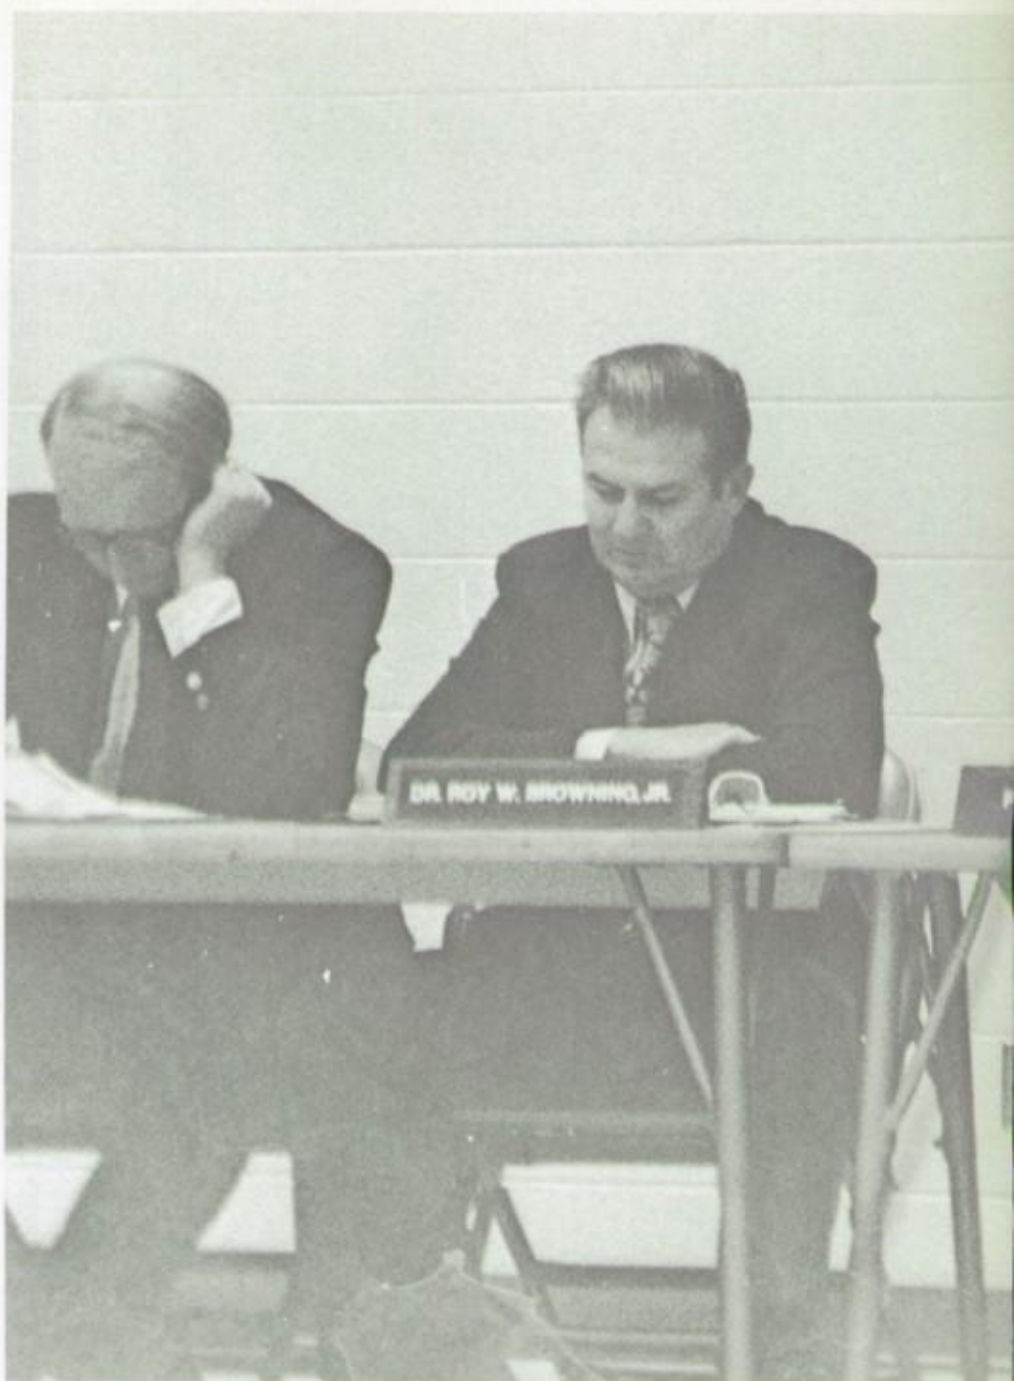

Gourmets are excellent judges of fine things. As they display their experience we learn.

Responsibilities nourish Board

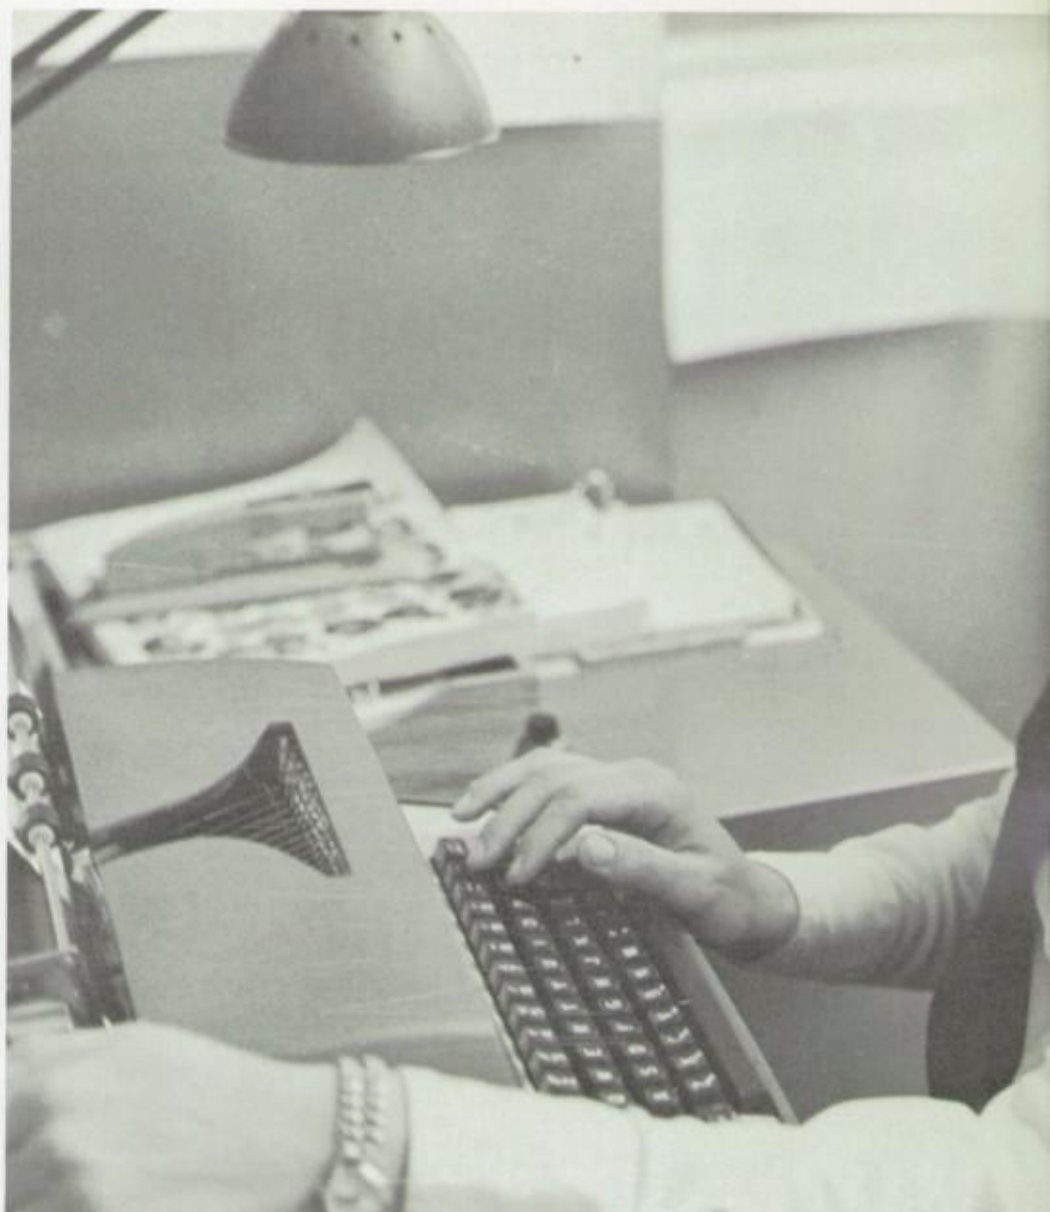

The seven elected members of the Topeka Board of Education nourish many responsibilities. Hiring teachers, developing a reasonable curriculum for the district schools, adopting a budget and deciding school policy matters were included.

The board met twice a month to discuss and decide upon these and other issues that come up.

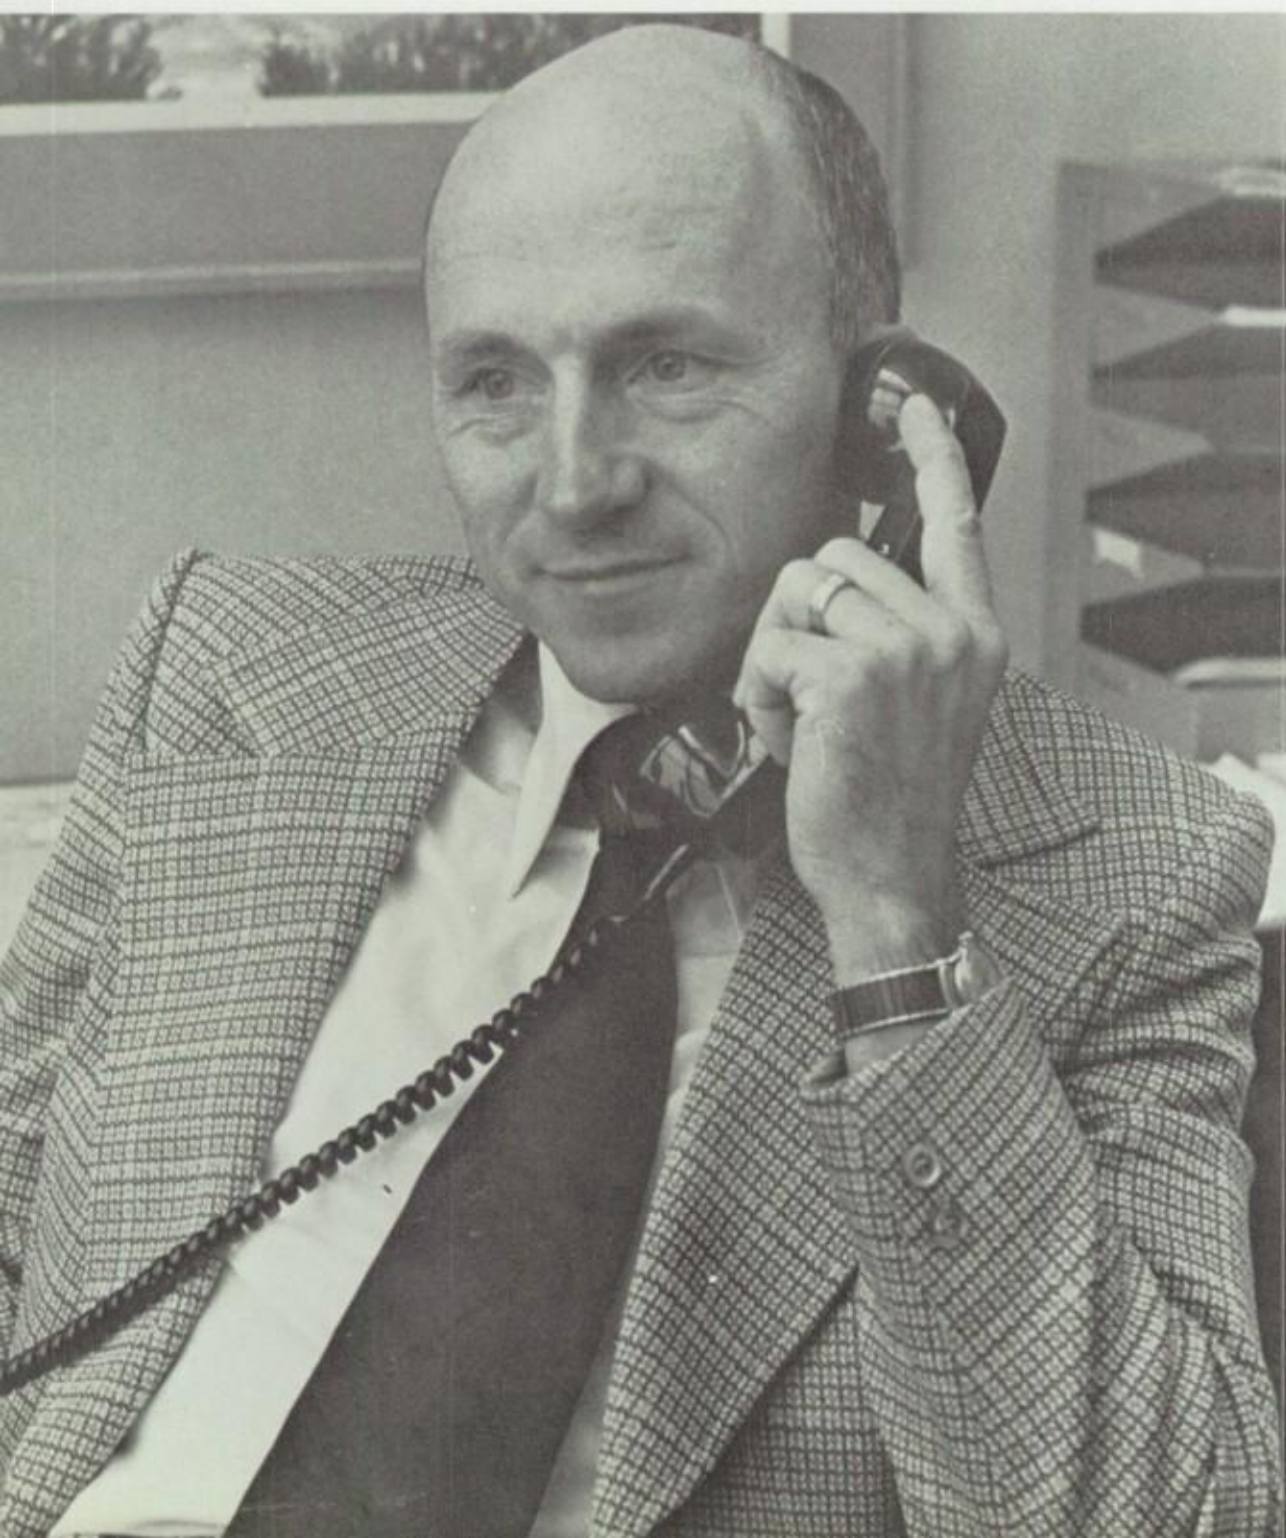

Office staff bubbling over

The A Office staff really cooked, adding a bit of this and a dash of that to form better organization and serve as a basic ingredient for smooth operation.

The staff consisted of Dr. Jack Deeter, principal; Rome Mitchell, associate principal; Mrs. Martha Dickinson, bookkeeper and Dr. Deeter's secretary; Mrs. Kay Laurie, budget requisitions, general host to West patro and secretary to Mr. Mitchell; and Mrs. Diane Miller, paraprofessional.

UPPER RIGHT: Furiously pecking away at her typewriter is Mrs. Kay Laurie. ABOVE: Principal Jack Deeter discusses school events with Everett Cook, Area B director.

Office staffs unify Chargers

Ingredients of the little school offices were a mixture of principals, counselors and secretaries. Each had separate responsibilities many students weren't aware of.

The staff of B School was in charge of coordinating the KAVTS and directing athletics.

Financial aid, scholarships, student teachers and special education were the unique duties of C School.

The jobs of D School were the arrangement of open house and textbook rental.

Responsibilities special to E School were arranging for college reps, college night, data processing and independent study.

TOP: B School is under the direction of Don French, assistant principal; Mrs. Jackie Fink, secretary; and Ms. Margaret Fowler, counselor. BOTTOM: Running D School is Mrs. Lila Paslay, counselor; Mrs. Donna Hayek, secretary, and Harold Sheffield, assistant principal.

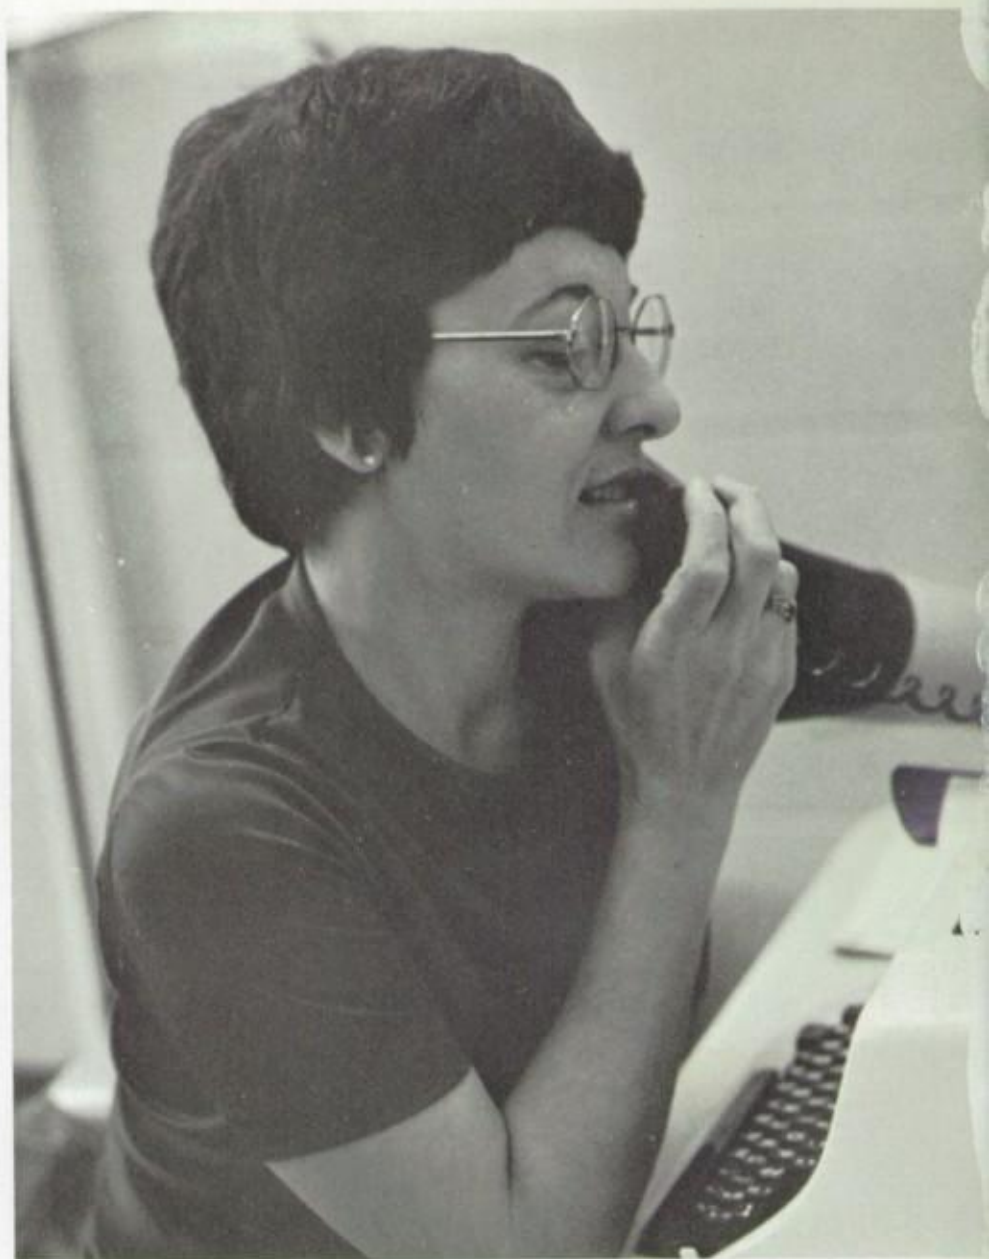

TOP: The staff at C School consists of Terry Sandlin, assistant principal; Mrs. Lee Myer, secretary; and Ms. Sally Kahle, counselor. BOTTOM: The administrators of E School are Roger Ginavan, counselor; Dr. Bill Curtis, assistant principal; and Mrs. Lola Page, secretary.

Service staffs garnish campus

Maintenance, concern for the students and green lawns, cooked to order and garnished with sticks and string, were the result of dedicated work by the 10-member custodial team, Frank West, head.

Competing with a single open lunch period was the 21-member cafeteria staff who provided balanced meals for students and faculty.

In his sixth year as security guard was Al Twidwell. Mrs. Charlotte Campbell, nurse, was in charge of sight and hearing tests.

Security officer Al Twidwell takes time to think about his job.

Cooking meals for West and surrounding schools are Shirley Miller, Judy Crider, Phyllis Bartley, Vivian Newell, director; Celia Kinder, Deanna Karhoff, Vicki Frank, Patricia Sipp, Evelyn Hrenchir, Patty Parker, Gerry Rutherford, Edna Snook, Dora Taylor, Teresa Goupil, Emi Klug, Roberta Hanaka, Gene Killinger and Ethel Lester.

Faculty inflicts bite on policy

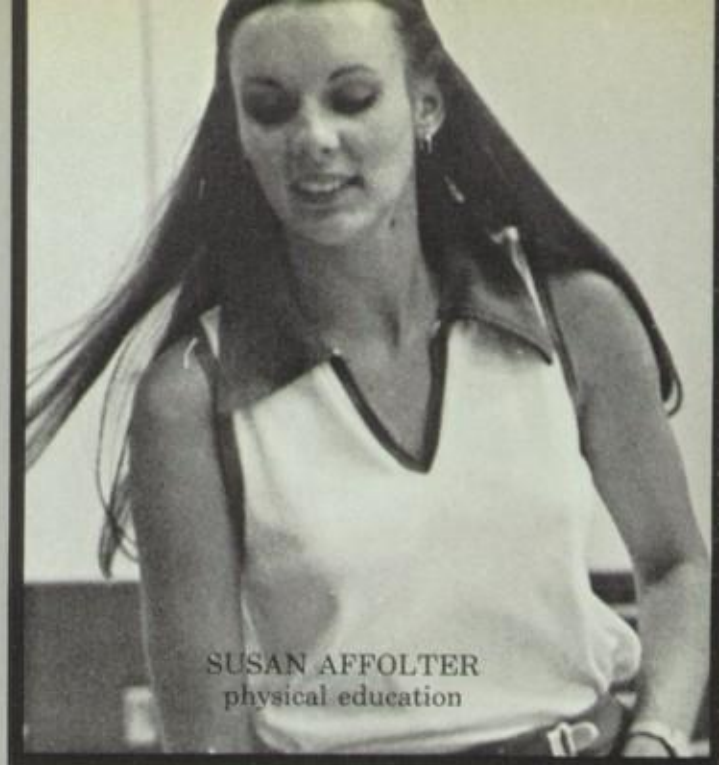

Marinating the 69-member teaching staff were 10 new instructors. Included was Harold Sheffield, D School assistant principal and government teacher.

Faculty members had their hands full keeping accurate records for the new attendance policy. One unexcused absence or two tardies resulted in a phone call to the student's parents. The outcome for three skips or six tardies was a parent-teacher conference.

Staff activities included a picnic at Lake Shawnee, a ball game and a dinner theater in Kansas City. A StuCo-sponsored luncheon for the faculty was held in the library one week prior to the beginning of school.

Fruits and Nuts

"From the smallest of acorns, mighty oak trees grow."

"Super sexy seniors of '77"

The "Pride of '77" began a rolling boil with the orientation slogan "Super sexy seniors of '77."

Leading the seniors were Cynthia Eissler, president; Linda Mankin, vice-president and Lisa Thorp, secretary-treasurer.

The Class of '77 sponsored a fireworks stand which made over $800, a WPA, a basketball varsity, and the Homecoming parade and Spirit Week.

Graduation activities included the annual senior week and assembly, and a trip to Worlds of Fun.

Pupils devour library's aids

The library offered many choice sources of information, aside from being a prime place for several students to earn proctor credit.

"It's very fulfilling to me to see kids get turned on to learning through reading, making movies, doing oral histories and making some kinds of career choices," Mike Printz, librarian, explained.

The work of teachers was also seasoned by aids from the library. As Mr. Printz said, "School would be pretty boring with just textbooks."

Vocational training was offered to West students through the Field Experience Program and Kaw Valley Area Vocational-Technical School.

Vo-Tech classes ranged from auto body repair to nurses' training and provided a unique experience in learning for interested students.

One highlight of the year was a VICA leadership conference held in Rock Springs. The Topeka West participant for Vo-Tech was Evan Evans, '78. "The purpose of the conference was to learn leadership abilities," Evan said.

Field Experience students held mostly volunteer jobs such as teacher-aides, and hospital-aides. They were required to attend two work-study seminars during the school year.

'Dedication' key among debaters

"You've got to have dedication," Debate teacher Jim Payne said about the two debate classes added to the curriculum.

Debate, a class which provided learning tools, research ability, and job experience, catered to the student with individual responsibility.

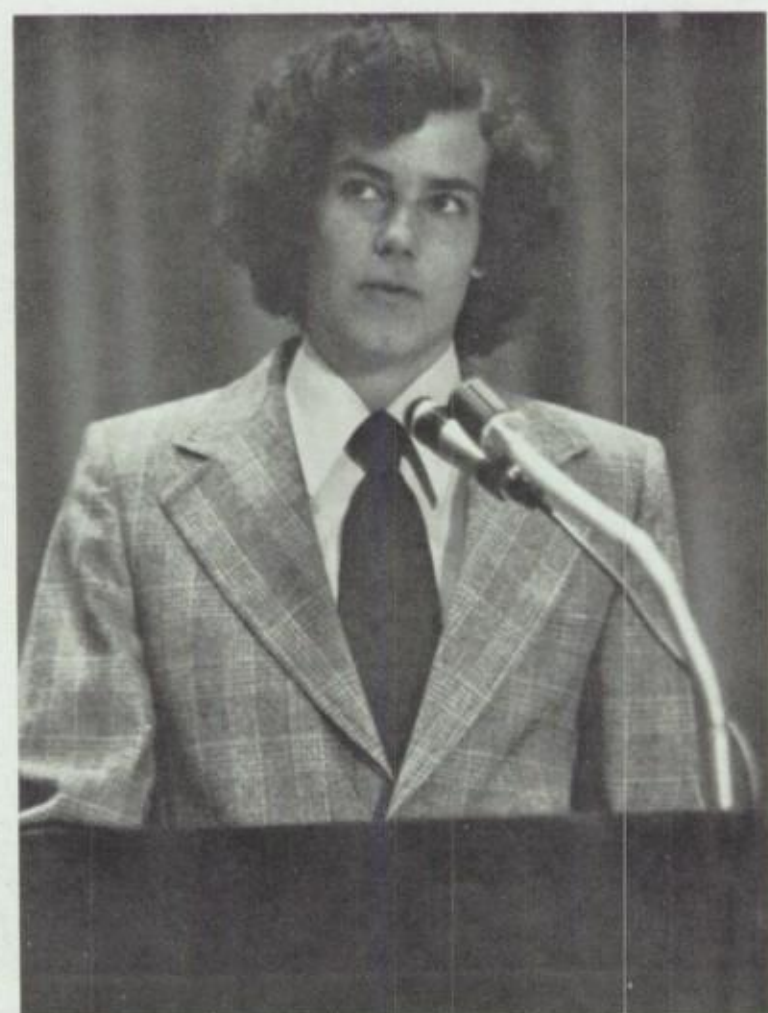

The 1976-77 Debate topic was: "Resolved: A Comprehensive Program of Penal Reform Should Be Adopted Throughout the United States."

Class inventions create hubbub

Passing by the industrial arts class, one could hear the buzzing saws and pounding hammers as students worked on projects.

Cecil Wichert, department head, felt the purpose of the class was "to give the student a basic knowledge of furniture-making and metal craft."

Among the classes offered were wood-working, mechanical drawing, auto mechanics, and electricity.

Teachers urge language study

Foreign language wasn't a required subject, but several students fitted it into their daily menu.

"I just wanted to speak French," explained Kim Richie, '77. "I would like to go to school over there."

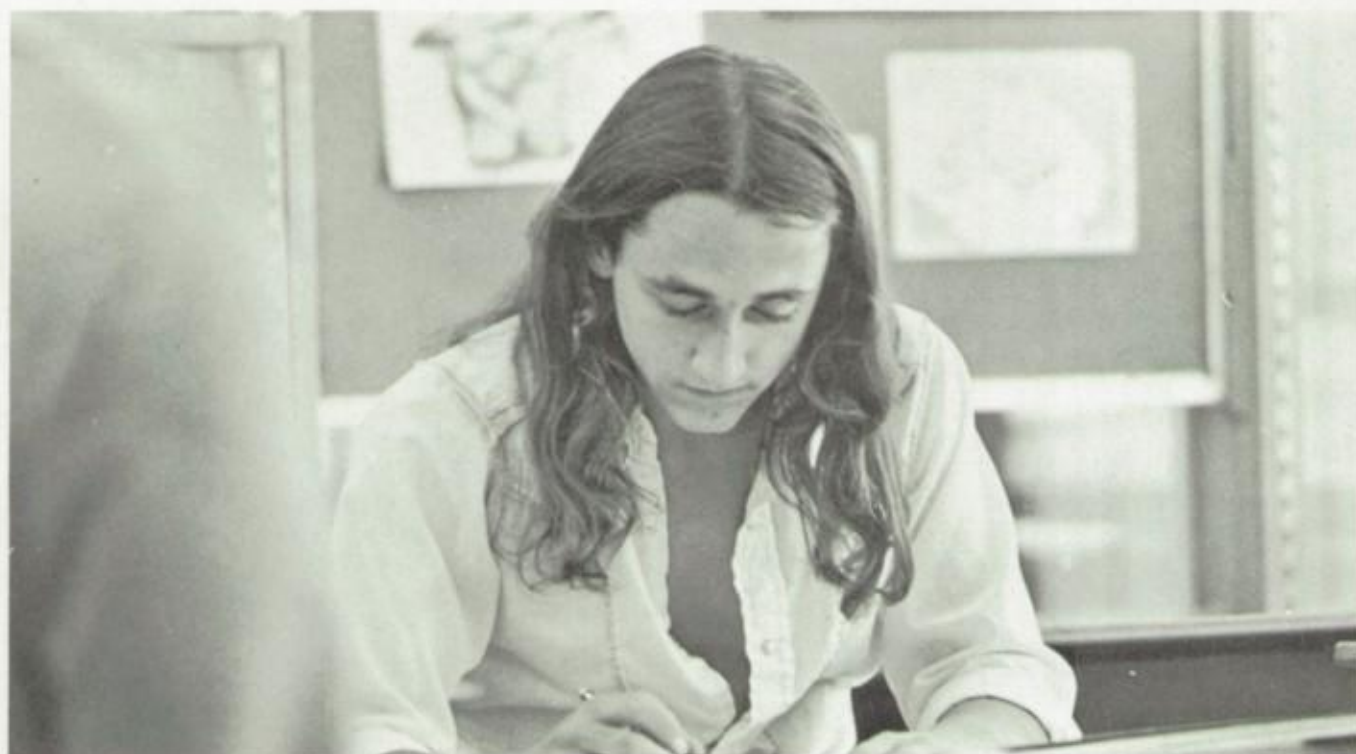

"I think everybody ought to take a foreign language," Mrs. Curtis, French teacher said. "There is more of a demand of knowing a foreign language in the business world now."

Spanish teacher Mrs. Francis Braun said, "I try to make the language practical so students can order food in a restaurant or travel with ease in a foreign situation."

Classes design artistic works

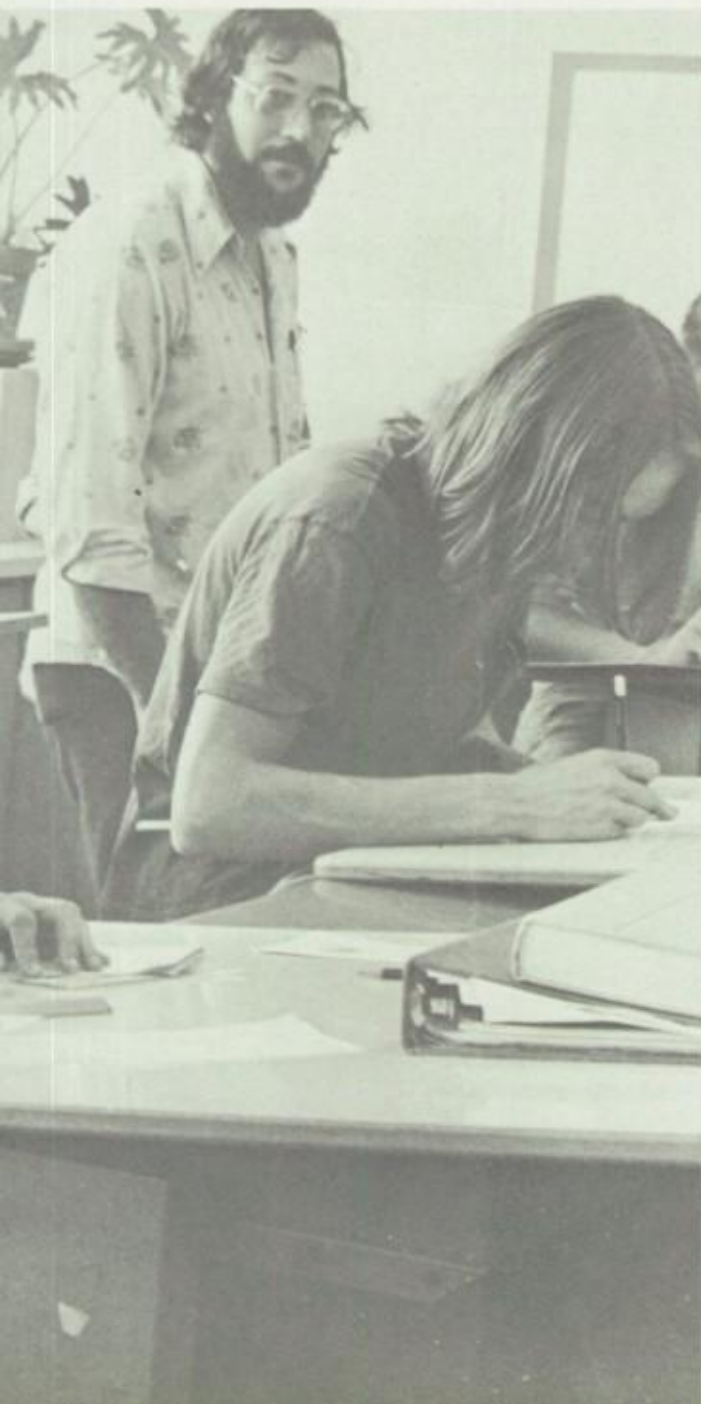

Strolling through the halls of A Building or by the 3-D room in the gym basement and hearing the sounds of busy bodies whipping up their masterpieces was witnessing the activities of the Art Department.

The main course was the prerequisite of art exploration, an introduction to art. This could be followed by a buffet of courses, including drawing, design, watercolor, sculpture, jewelry making and ceramics.

The department consisted of three teachers: Department Head Royce Fleming, Mrs. Barbara Parks and a new addition, Alan Friedlander.

The purpose of the courses was to benefit each student's separate skills and abilities to allow for individual improvement. The main goal was "individual growth of the student within group work," Mr. Fleming said.

Some art work was chosen by teachers and students for local exhibits and the annual Scholastic Arts Awards.

Alan Friedlander, new art teacher, is prepared to assist students as they make preliminary project plans. ABOVE: As one art student attempts to escape another, Michelle Kinney, '79, strives for precision.

Kitchens flavor home ec scene

Spicing up the Home Economics Department was the construction of kitchens in Room A101. These kitchens were built to fit the needs of handicapped students and others interested in cooking. Everything was lowered to a manageable level for those students in wheel chairs.

Mrs. Mary Beth Schroff, department head, said, "This is a good opportunity for the handicapped student. Now they can participate in food lab instead of having to sit back and watch."

Along with foods classes, sewing classes, including personal and creative clothing, were offered. Other courses included consumer education, pot pourri, cooking for survival and parenthood education.

Campus View staff expands

Work began in early fall as the Campus View staff dished up copy to meet their deadlines. Co-Editors Bruce Emmert and Dan Fitzgerald, '77, headed the 18-member staff for first semester.

"The staff is well experienced and well trained," Dan said. Though the price per inch of ad space increased to $1.25, the staff sold more than enough ads needed to produce the paper.

"We have a larger staff than in other years and have been able to accomplish some new and never-before-tried concepts," Dan said.

Staff sinks teeth into Chevalier

"It's the most unusual, most striking book I've ever seen," yearbook advisor Duane Shufelberger said.

Creating a yearbook students could get their teeth into was the goal of yearbook Co-Editors Ginger Warren and Tonya Wente, '77, when preparing the theme for the 1977 edition of the Chevalier.

The 20-member staff started selling ads during the summer in order to make the $3,300 goal needed to meet their budget of $14,000.

Staff members were fed a diet of pictures, ad sales, copy and deadlines during the first busy weeks of school.

"I feel that the staff worked their hardest at trying to convey our special theme to the readers," Ginger said.

Computers blend with math diet

The age of electronics had West sizzling in the form of computer math, a course in computer programming taught by Bob Gladfelter.

Field trips to computer installations in Topeka and the programming of the USD 501 computer were the main projects.

The Mathematics Department's bill of fare also included algebra, geometry, algebra-trigonometry, elementary functions and many others.

Robert Parks, department head, said that students adjusted well to new subject matter.

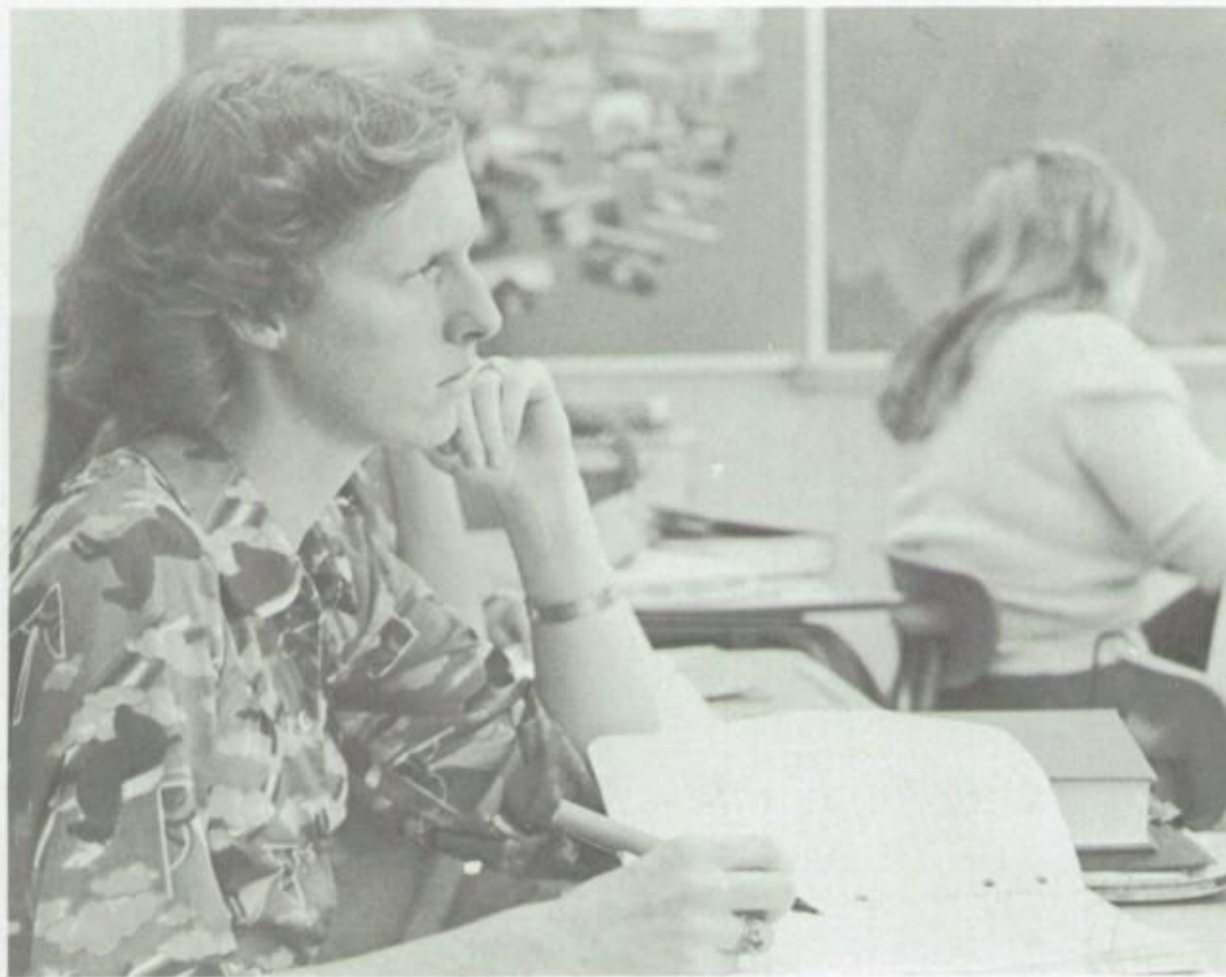

Varied classes stir up interest

Concoctions specially prepared by the Language Arts Department were meant to improve communications and appreciation of language and literature.

Among these were science fiction, journalism, stagecraft, theater, literature, composition, mass media, discussion, acting, creative writing and speech.

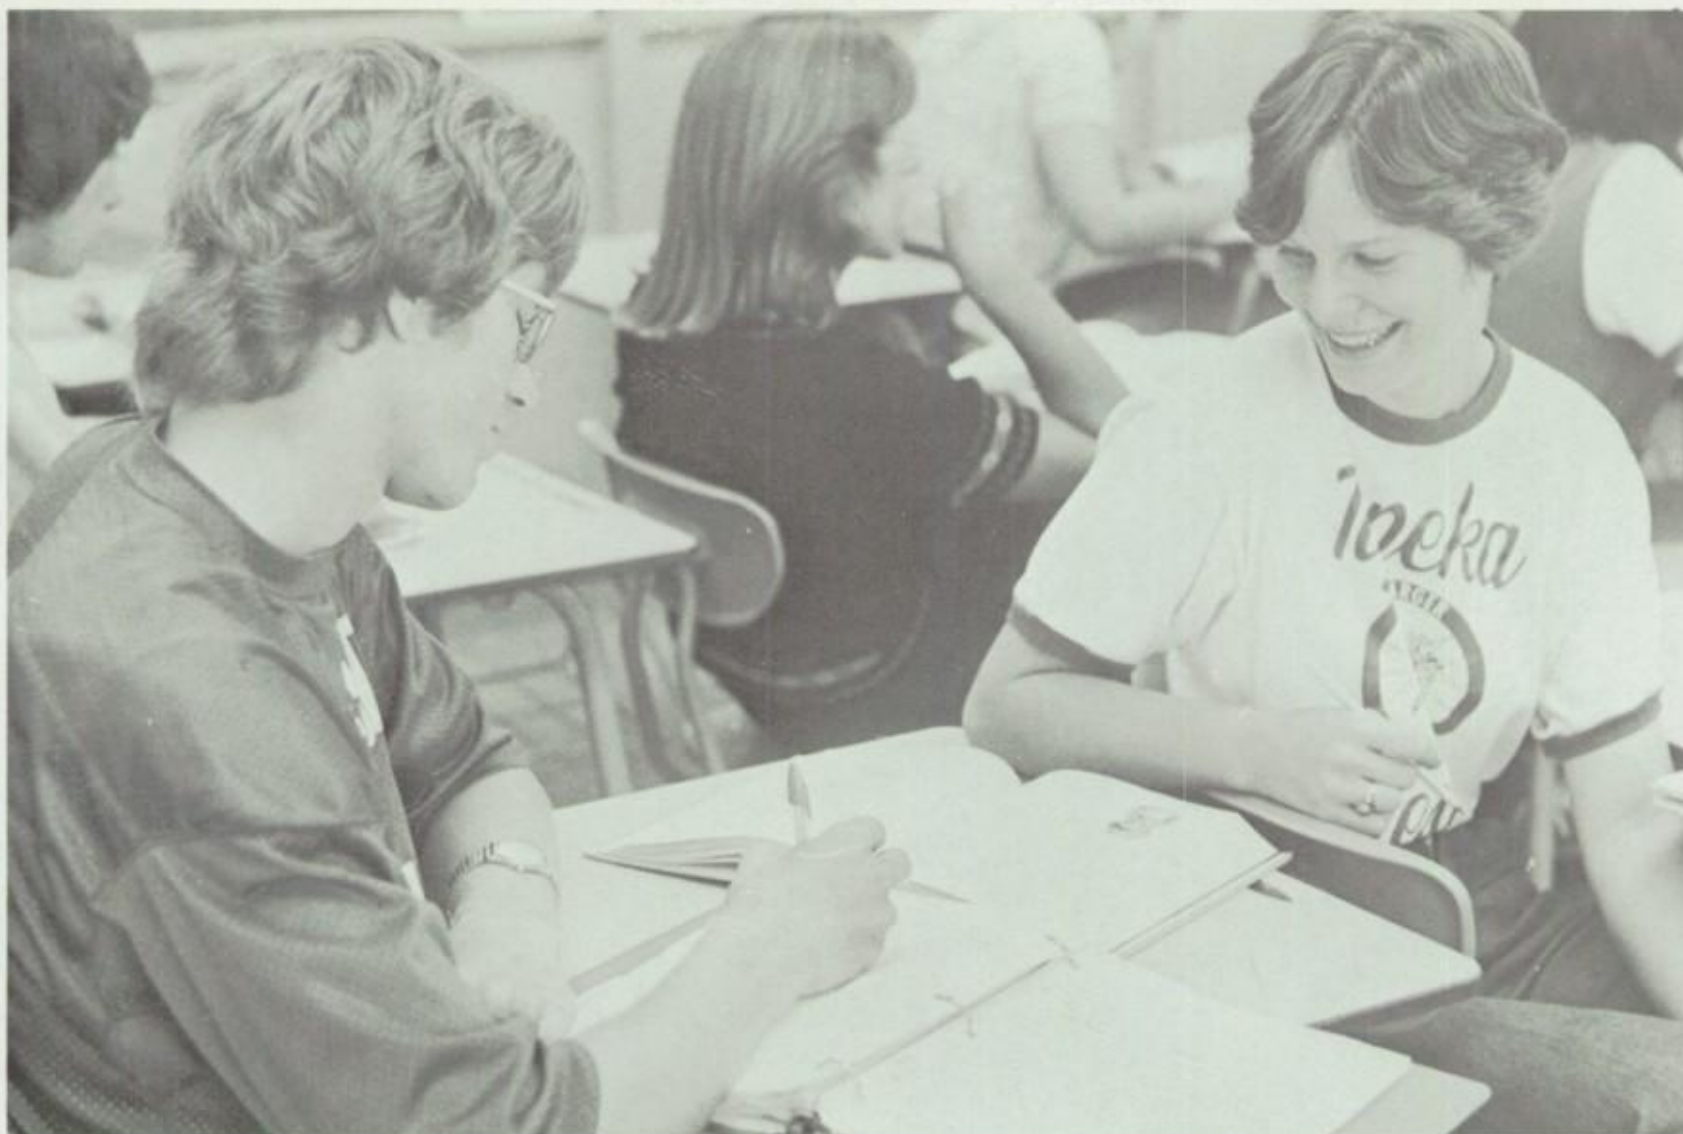

New classes such as senior English, English experiences, debate and forensics were added to the course offerings, according to department head Mrs. Carol Wilson.

"It's hard work, but I'm sure learning a lot," Kelly Smith, '77, said of her senior English class.

Coed classes relish PE menu

Changes have sifted through the Physical Education Department. For the second year in a row, coeducational classes, with activities ranging from Aerobic dancing to flag football, were offered. Jerry Wright, a tough cookie when it came to being department head, commented, "I think co-ed PE is a big success!"

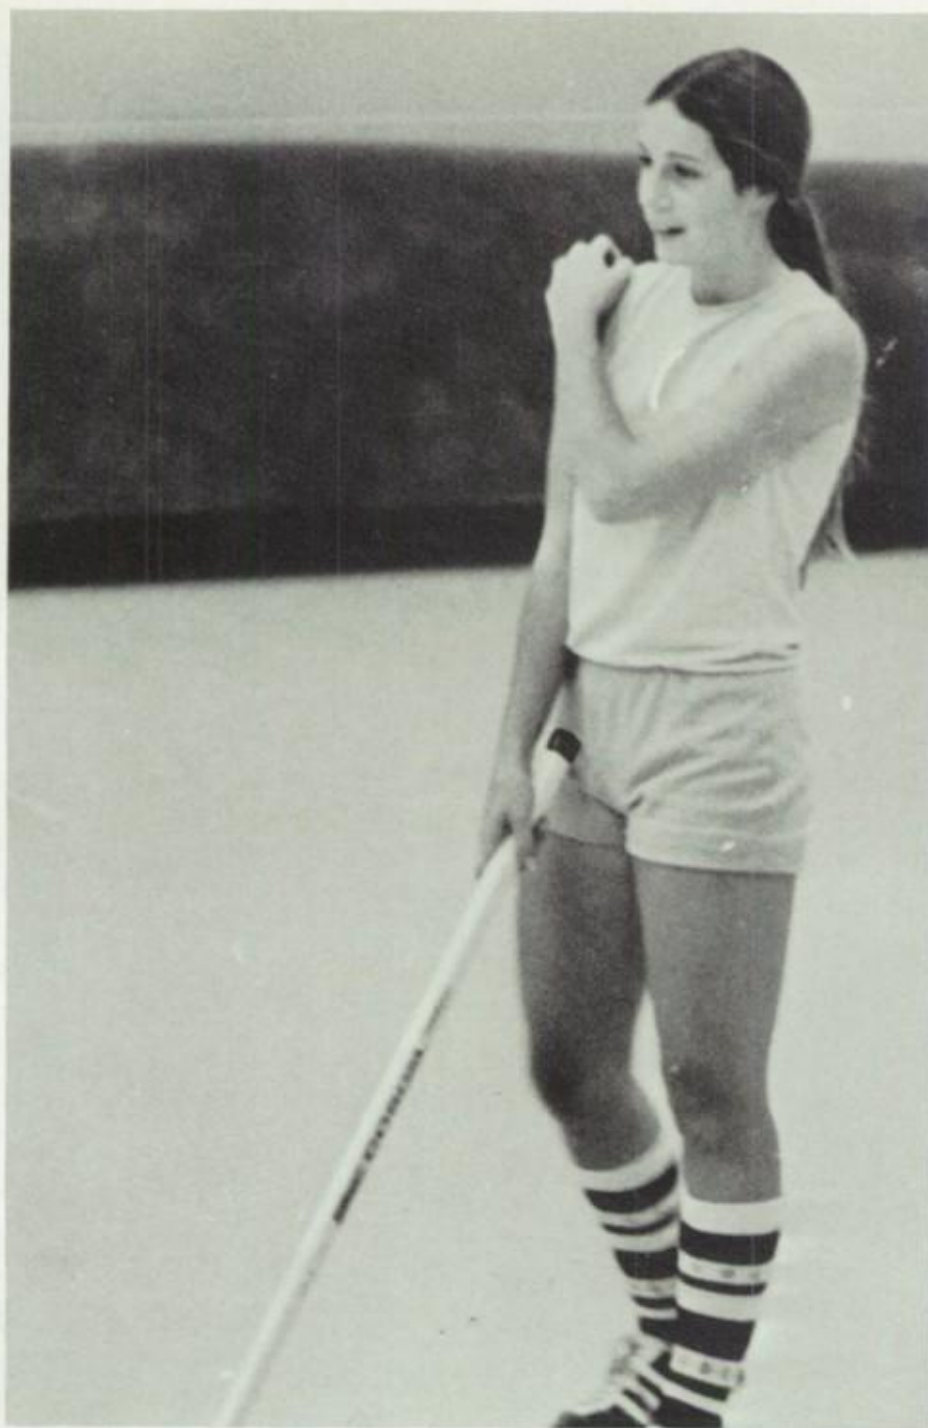

Another change was the concept class, which was required before enrolling in any other PE class. Le Ann Skidmore, '78, said, "I like PE II more than concepts mainly because it's more activity and less book work." The purpose of the class was to teach the how, what and why of physical exercise and activity.

Students thrive on field trips

Studying interactions in nature having to do with the physical environment was one objective of the Science Department. Another was to gain skills in working with plants.

Science courses included physics, botany, chemistry, astronomy and a new course of field biology.

Field trips encompassed excursions to KSU to see the nuclear reactor glass blowing, the linear accelerator and the planetarium. Trips were also taken to the Botanical Gardens and Greenhouse.

Looking behind to see ahead

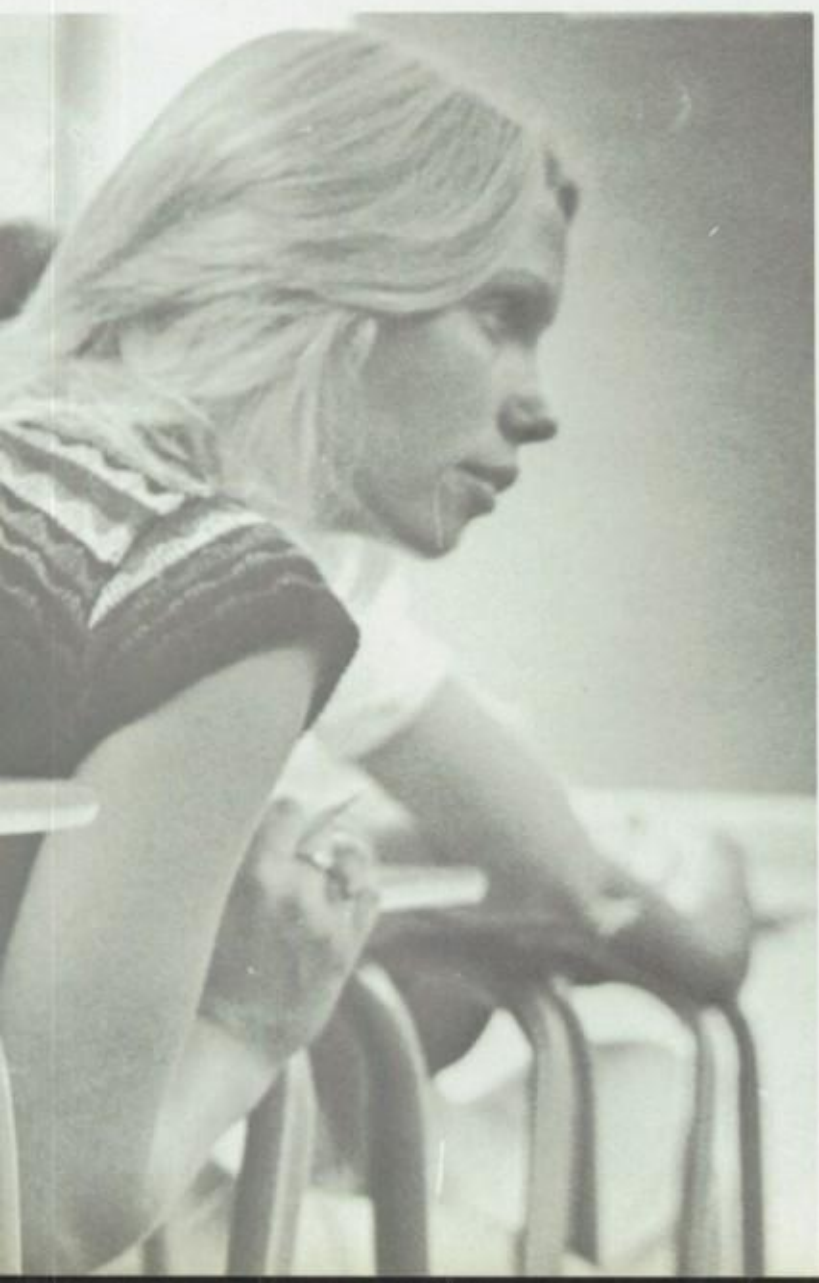

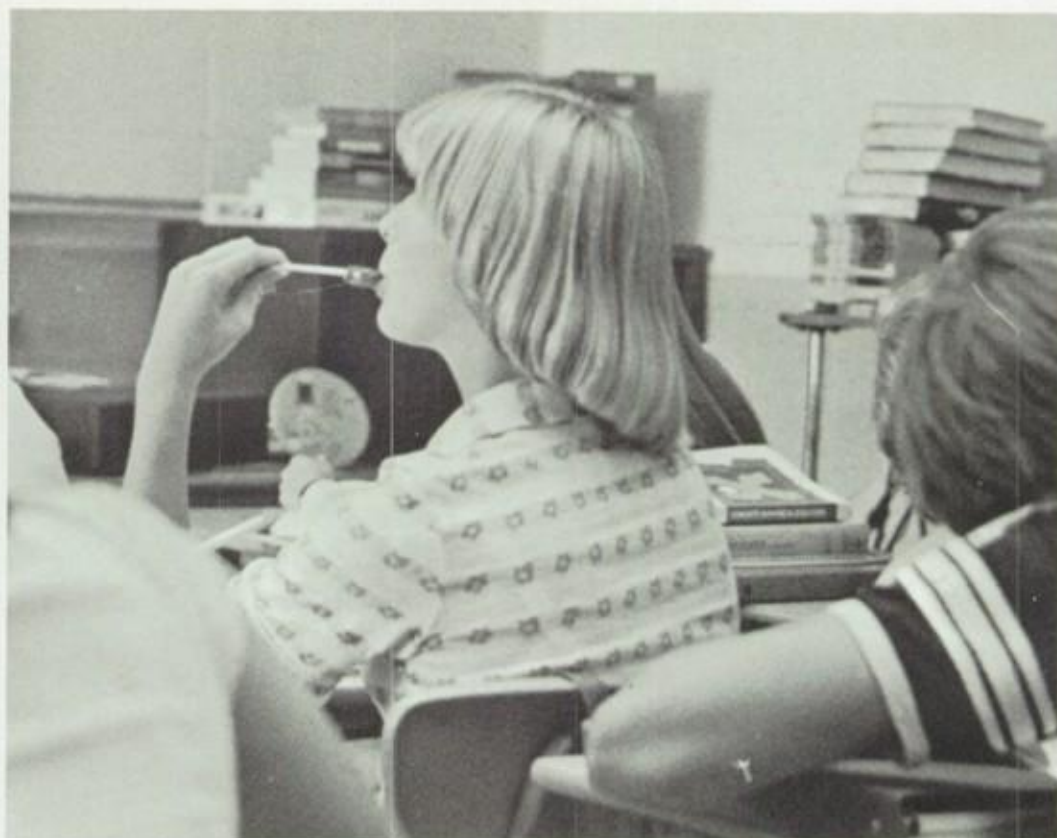

The Social Studies Department offered a variety of courses from which a student could select. Included were US history, imperial Russia, consumer education, economics, World Wars I and II, Middle East and American government.

Some new faces added to the department were Marvin Speier and Harold Sheffield. Both taught American government and are enthusiastic about being at West.

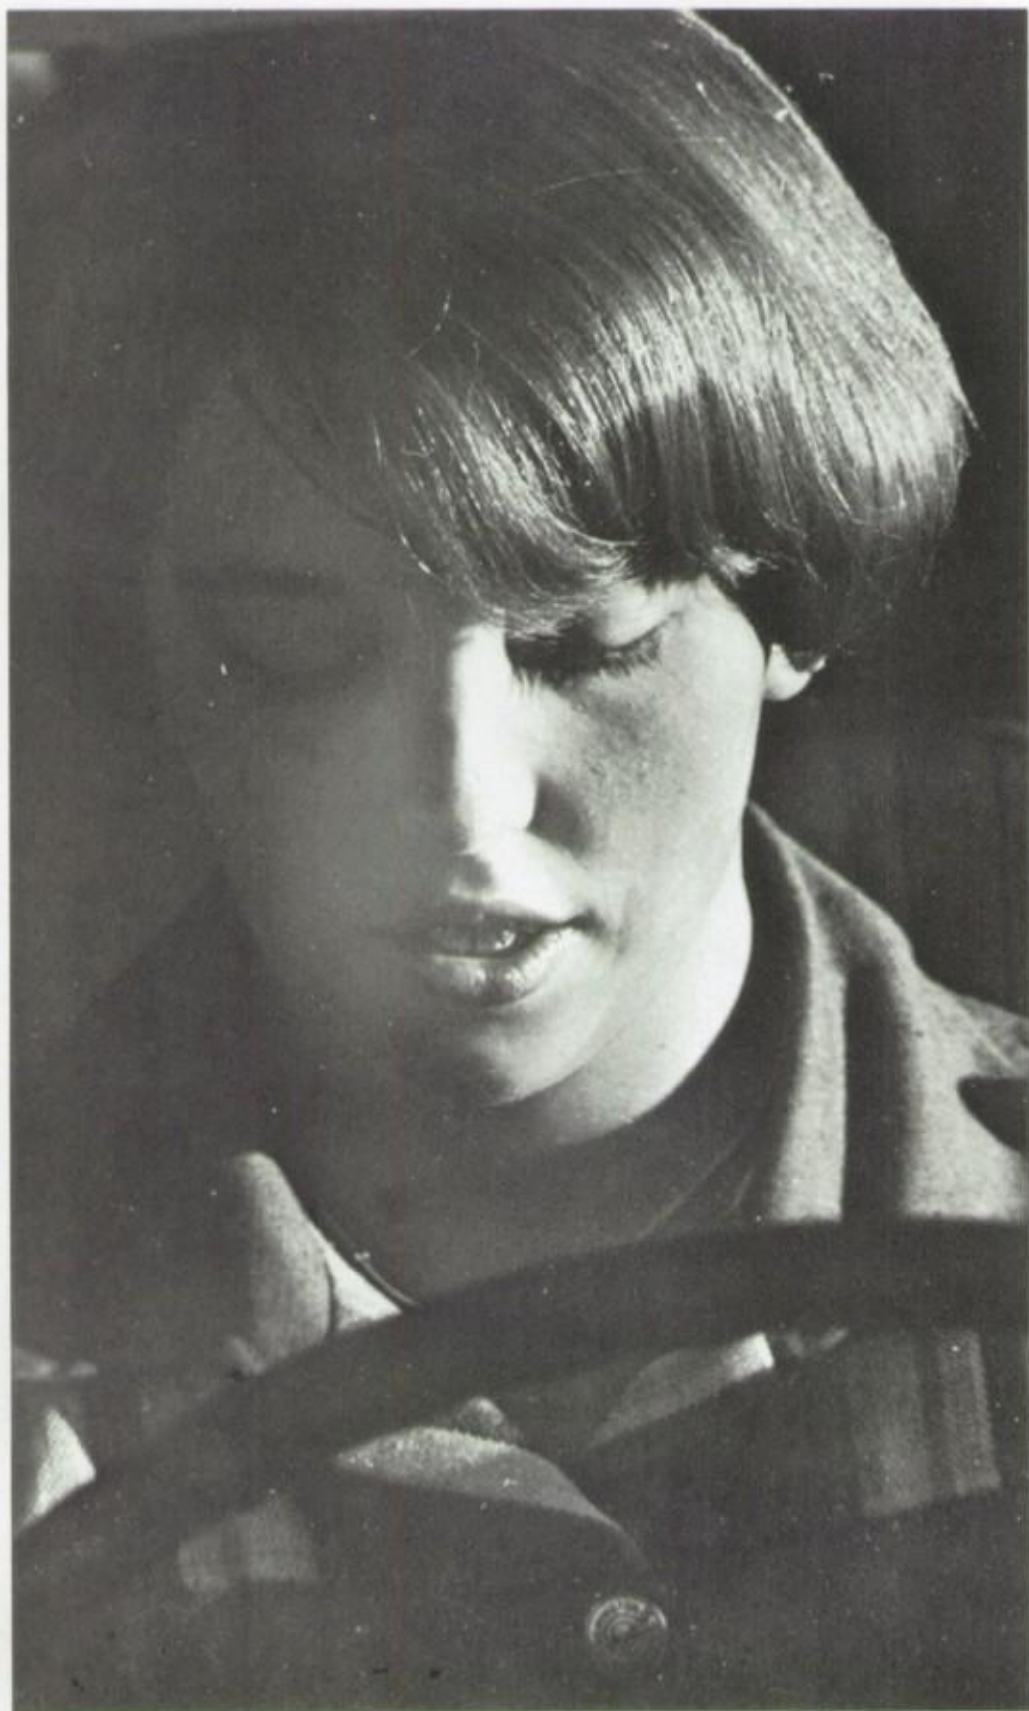

In his US history class, Dave Alexander said, "My course begins with the year 1900 and finishes with the year 2000. The concept of studying the life space of one person 76 years old has an impact, I think, of how a student looks towards his own future."

Screech, slide to smooth ride

Burning down the streets of Topeka are students of the driver's education classes.

To improve the students' understanding of the skills, knowledge and attitude it takes to become a better driver was the main objective.

Driving instructors were Dick Ruggles, John Griebat and Jack Wiley. As a team, the teachers instructed the classes or took a few students out driving. Leftover students spent their time in student center.

Course requirements were three hours of driving behind the wheel, 12 hours in simulator and 30 hours of classroom instruction.

Coach reflects on retirement

In Coach Cecil Wichert's sixth and final season, the Chargers had a 1-8 record and served up a menu of Charger spirit and good sportsmanship each game night.

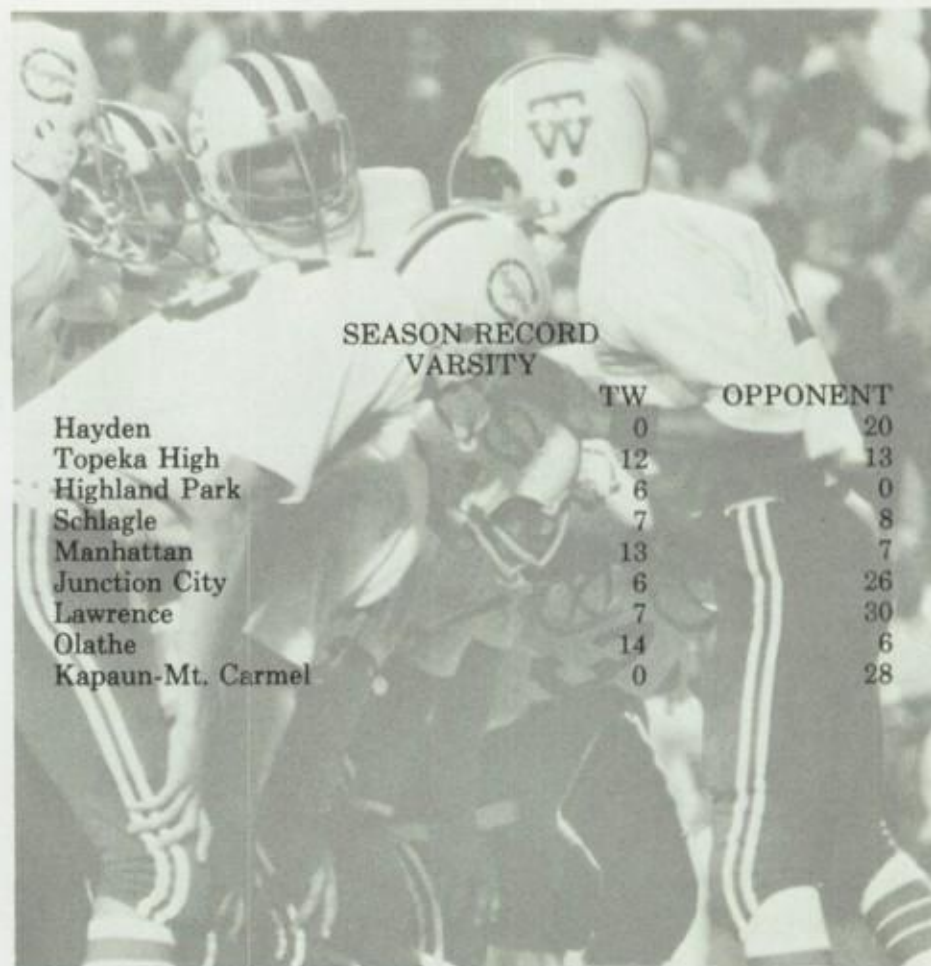

Coach Wichert, reflecting upon his retirement, said, "I have mixed emotions about it. I hate to quit, but it's time to pursue other things." He is happy with his decision to retire and hopes to devote more time to the construction of houses. He expressed disappointment at not achieving all of his goals as head coach. "You can't feel good when you look at it, but we always hope to do better," Mr. Wichert said.

One event that hampered the progress of the football team was the burning of the sports equipment shed prior to the start of the season. Damages were estimated at $2,000 in lost football blocking dummies, track hurdles and other track equipment. Cause of the fire was not known.

Teams draw coaches' praise

Junior varsity and sophomore football teams had good seasons. They came through with no major injuries, and the JV team lost only two games.

According to Coach Cecil Wichert, West can look forward to a good season next year. Coach Wichert said, "I'll be their No. 1 fan."

The JV coaching staff is expecting great things in the future. They feel the team is of good quality and works up to expectations. Coach Doug Kelsey said, "They gave a good effort."

Harriers spice sports

Coach Joe Schrag's harriers put a pleasing garnish on the fall sports season records. The team continued to hold first in the city as it has for six consecutive years. It also placed first in the regional and second in the state.

"I thought we had a good season," commented Coach Schrag. "It was better than expected because we had only three returning lettermen."

The team consisted of 32 men and two women. Each member ran on the average of 70-80 miles a week.

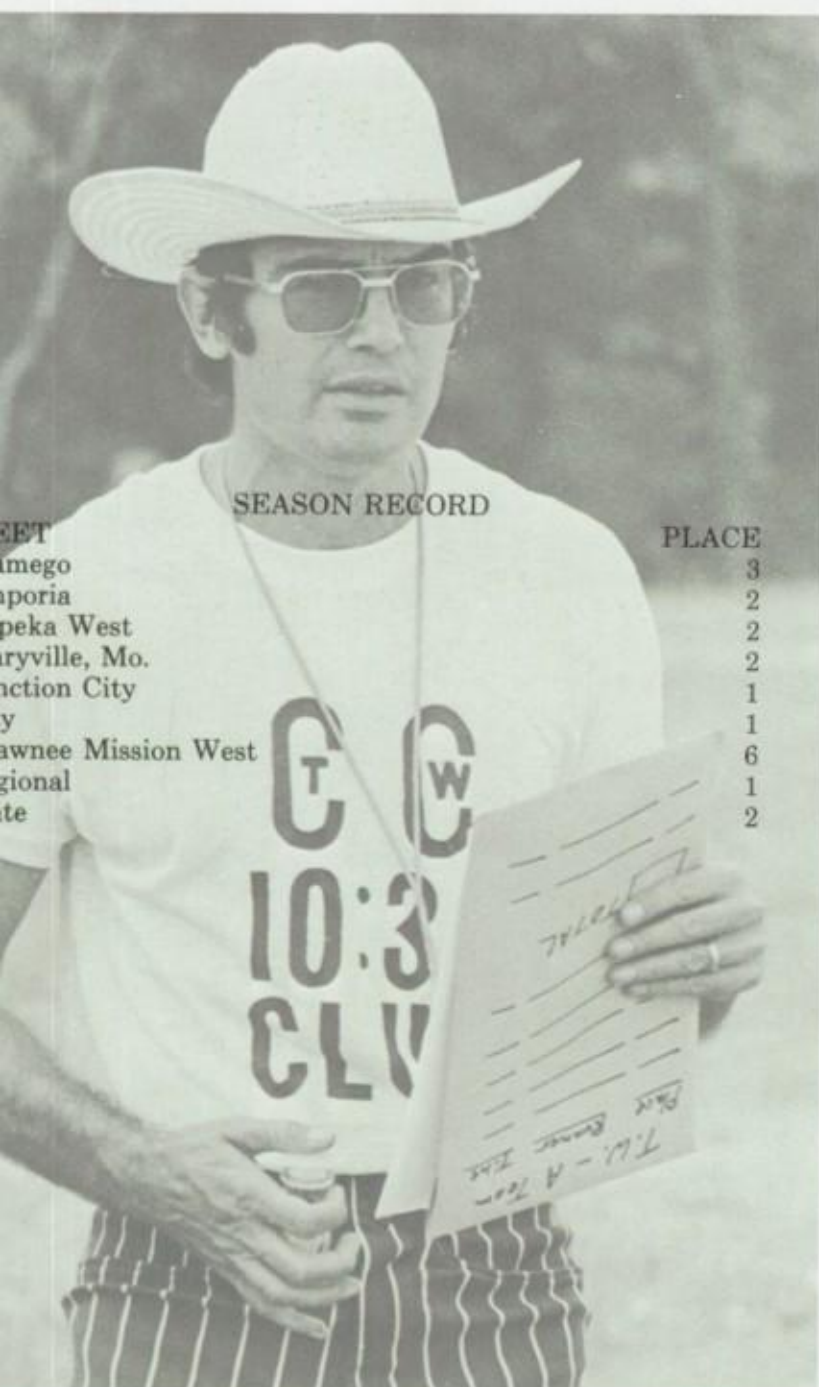

Jan Spring, '77, placed first in the city, while Cory Barron captured first in the state. He convincingly won it with a time of 9:19.2. "I wasn't surprised because he usually does his best in the bigger meets," Coach Schrag reported.

Through continued effort, the coach feels the team has a great future. The sophomores are of good quality but he will miss the seniors, he said.

Team compiles most victories

The 1976 girls' tennis team capped its sixth consecutive winning season by hosting the state tournament in October. Winning 90 per cent of its matches, the varsity team posted its highest percentage ever.

Playing No. 1 singles, even after an ankle injury, was Susan Frydrych, '77. She was followed by Lisa Rudnick, '78, who played No. 2 singles. The two doubles teams consisted of Diane Anderson-Mary Weiser, '77, and Allison Mills, '78-Anne Cleland, '79.

For the sixth consecutive year, the varsity team won the city meet with Frydrych, Rudnick and Laurel Ransom, '79, taking first in No. 1, 2 and 3 singles, respectively. In doubles, Anderson-Weiser won second in No. 1 doubles and Mills-Cleland took first in No. 2 doubles.

At the regional meet, Charger netters, for the second straight year, qualified the entire team for state. Frydrych captured third, downing teammate Rudnick, who placed fourth. In doubles, the duo Anderson-Weiser also defeated teammates Mills-Cleland for first place.

Rain halted the state meet at Hughes Tennis Courts, and play was moved to Wood Valley Racquet Club. The Chargers captured second as a team, with Frydrych taking sixth in singles, and Anderson-Weiser sixth in doubles. The only Charger netters to place in the top four were Mills-Cleland, who walked away with fourth place in doubles.

Season great for rebuilding

Even though they lacked experience, the 1976 Charger volleyball team posted a 15-11 record in playing their way to regional competition. Coach Cindy Heath was disappointed that the team didn't do better in regionals and felt that they should have gone to state. She thought the Chargers were an "off and on team."

Practice sessions opened with relays, jogging and exercises to build strength and wind. "I think practice was more organized primarily due to Coach Wiley's assistance plus an earlier time," Mrs. Heath said.

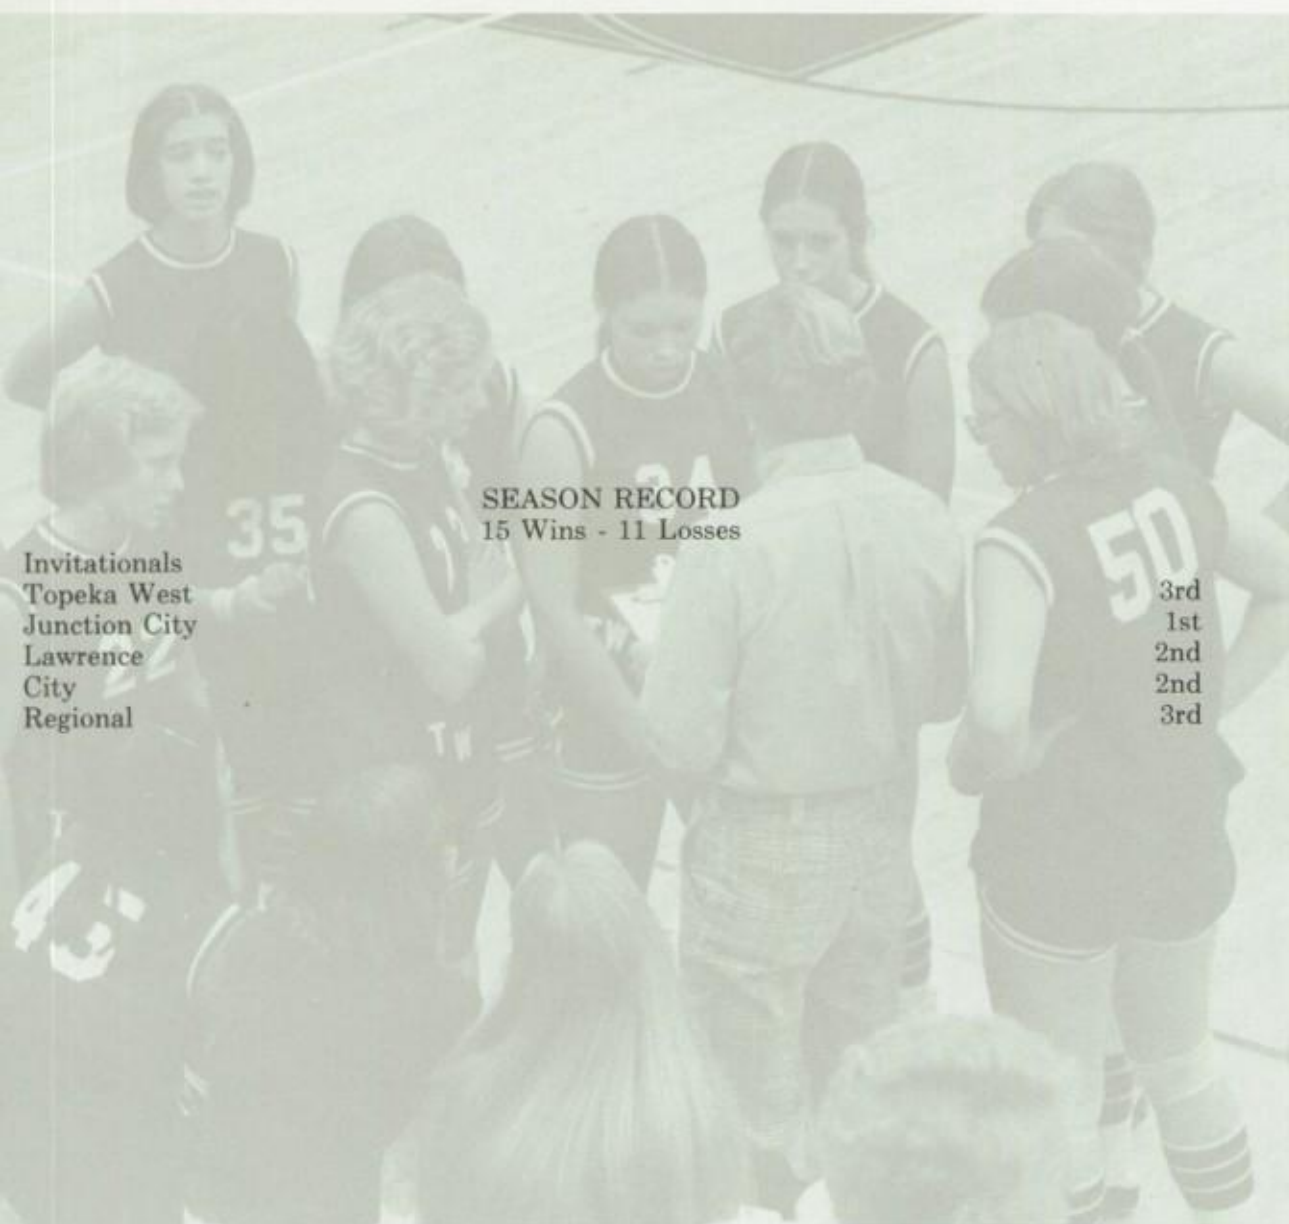

The junior varsity and sophomore teams compiled 4-1 and 2-0 records. Mrs. Heath said, "Great season for rebuilding year."

Coach predicts brighter future

With a lack of experience, even though six seniors competed, men's varsity basketball compiled an 8-12 record.

Coach Dick Ruggles was pleased with the team's effort. "The most outstanding feature the team had was that it never quit," he said. He also felt that being an independent resulted in a tough playing schedule.

Coach Ruggles was encouraged by the high quality of returning lettermen and sophomores who will advance to varsity next year.

9 records set by sophomores

Setting nine school records, sophomore basketball compiled a 17-1 record while the junior varsity ended the season with a 6-11 record.

Among the records set were best season record, most points scored in a single season (1,283) and in a single game (104) and most points-per-game average (71.3).

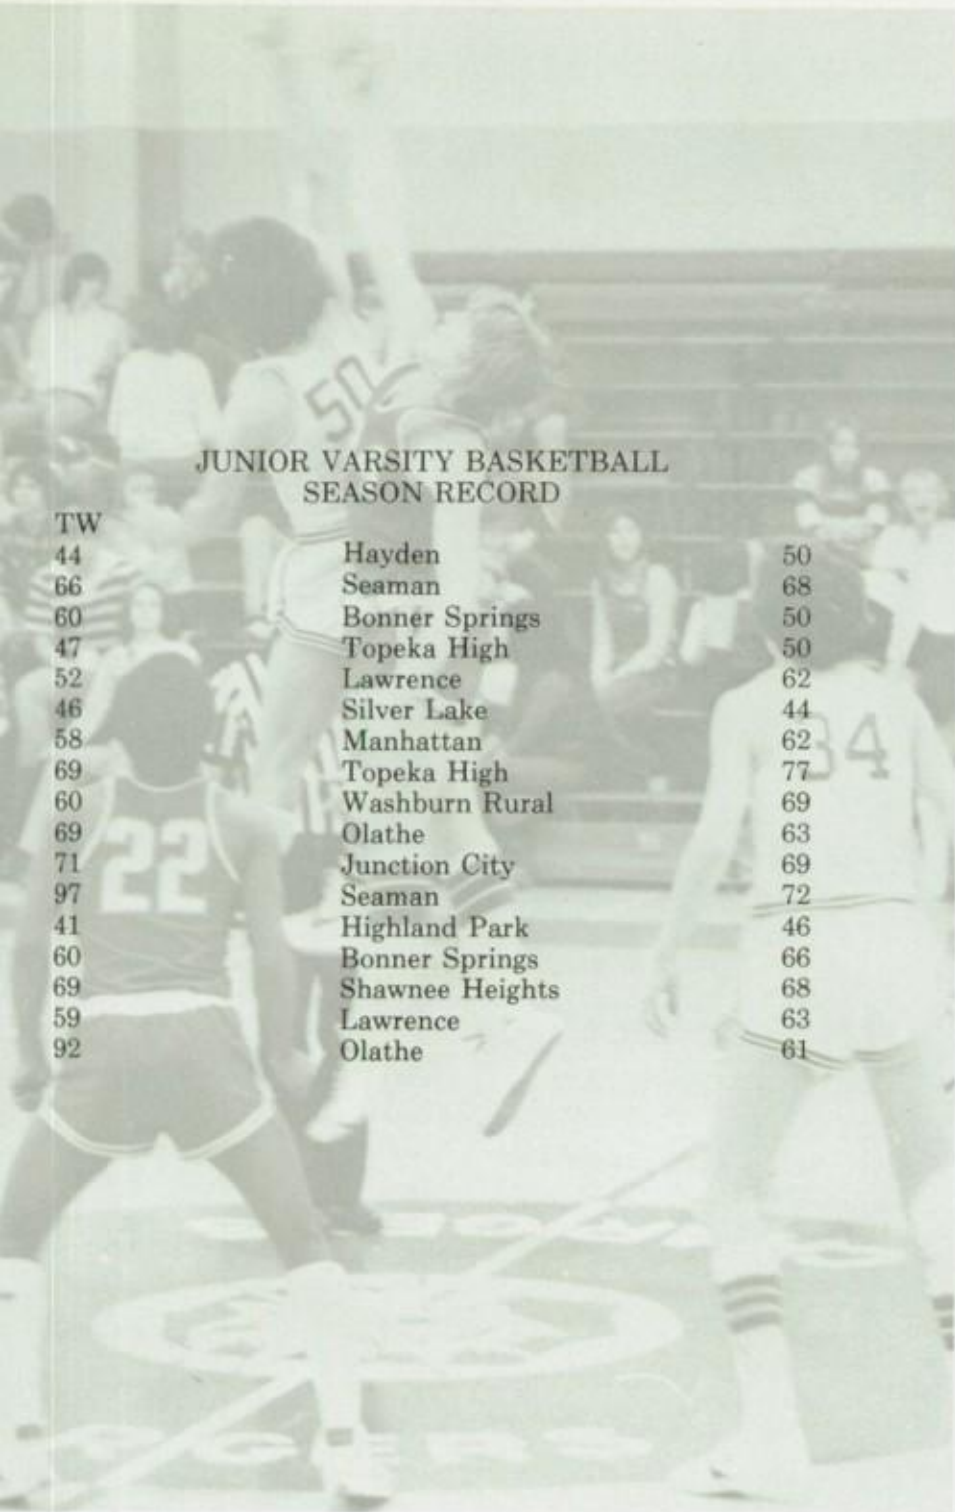

Trademarks of the team included bench play, hard running and a pressing defense.

"The team played really together and was very unselfish," Coach Jerry Wright said.

Squads boast Charger spirit

The 1976-77 Cheerleaders contributed their part to the Spirit of '76 by giving their full support to football, basketball, and other Charger sports. They devoted hours to practice, poster and sign painting, and skit rehearsing in an effort to promote school pride and spirit.

The cheerleading squads consisted of 17 members. Debbie Hawkins, '77, headed a seven-member varsity squad and Karen Jaquith, '77, headed the five-member junior varsity squad. Five sophomore cheerleaders headed the sophomore class.

Money-making projects sponsored by the cheerleaders included car washes, painting addresses on curbs, selling glasses, and a garage sale.

Each of the girls derived different benefits from cheerleading. "I like a lot of excitement and I like getting involved with people through cheerleading," said Kelly Smith.

Routines amuse Charger fans

With a recipe of hard work and time, the Westsiders kept Charger fans entertained during halftime of varsity football and basketball games.

The drill team performed crisp and light routines under the direction of Mrs. Cindy Boyles, Captain Lisa Broughton, and Co-Captain Dwayn Harrison. The girls developed precision drills during a credit class first semester.

Money-making projects included a car wash and notecard sales. The drill team also attended KU Band Day in September.

"Drill team works hard all year long by starting practices in August and by holding many early morning practices with the band," Mrs. Boyles said.

Coach pleased with effort

With young team, women's basketball finished the season with a 7-13 record.

Coach Charlie Myers was disappointed the team didn't do better but was pleased with their effort.

"I think the greatest disappointment was ending the season with five losses," Coach Myers said.

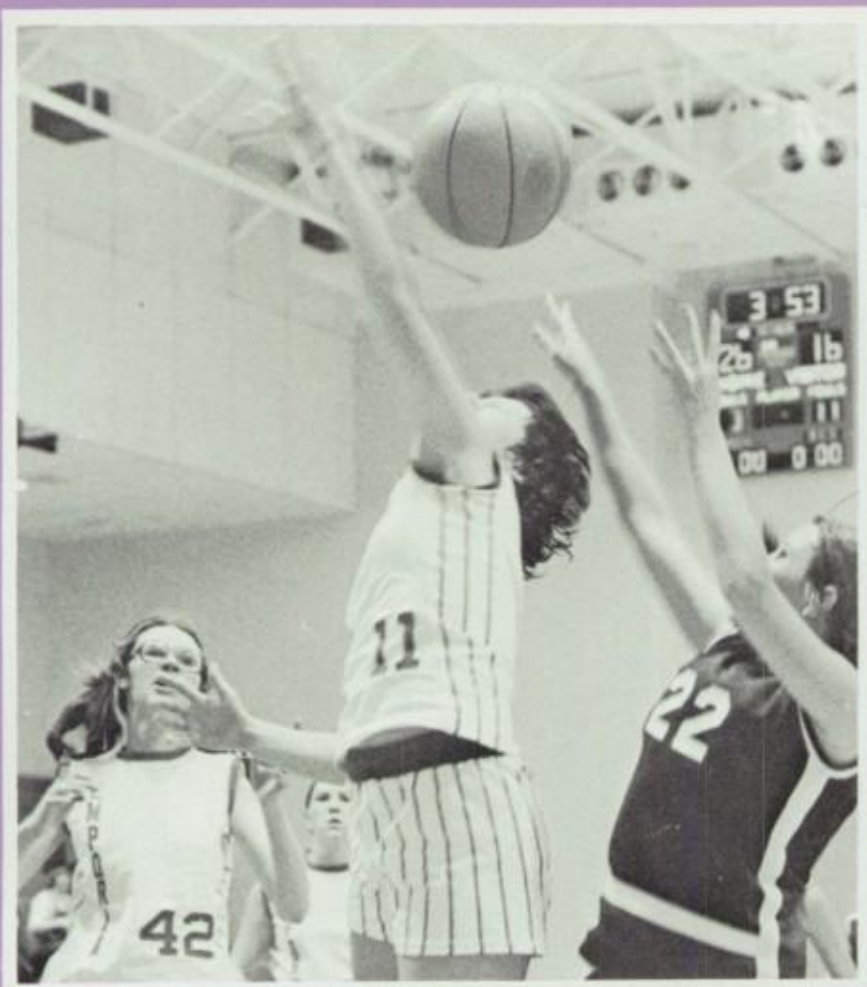

Highlights of the season included a fourth place finish at the Emporia tournament and the defeat of many top ranked teams, including Lawrence and Topeka High.

Swimmer fleet at record high

With a record number of participants out for swimming, Coach Ed Poort felt a definite improvement over past years.

By comparing 4 points earned last year at state with this year, the team showed an excellent future.

Coach Poort was encouraged by the number of good sophomores. "You always hope for depth, but when you have quality with depth, that's even better."

With only 45 minutes a day practice time, Coach Poort commented on how efficiently the swimmers used the time. "If we had a pool, it would be the difference between night and day."

Record number taken to state

By knocking off many of the top rated teams in the state, the Topeka West wrestling team showed an excellent future.

Varsity wrestlers set a school record by sending 8 of 11 to the state while every sophomore was in the top four at the Highland Park invitational.

"We'll have an outstanding team next year because of the experience gained by the sophomores," Coach Jeff Springer said.

The change of coaches from last year caused a few wrestlers not to participate this year. Coach Springer felt this was both good and bad. It helped the B and C teams to gain experience, but it also lost a few meets, he said.

With hard work, women rank high

With a recipe of hard work, grace and co-ordination, the women's gymnastics team placed among the top three in each of their ten meets.

Comparative scores of 65.85 earned at the first dual meet with Lawrence and 83.60, which was earned at state, showed progress both as a team and as individuals.

Noticeable improvements were made in the areas of floor exercise and uneven parallel bars over last year. Mrs. Cindy Boyles, head coach, felt the girls worked more as a team than on individual accomplishments. She also felt personal relationships among gymnasts had improved.

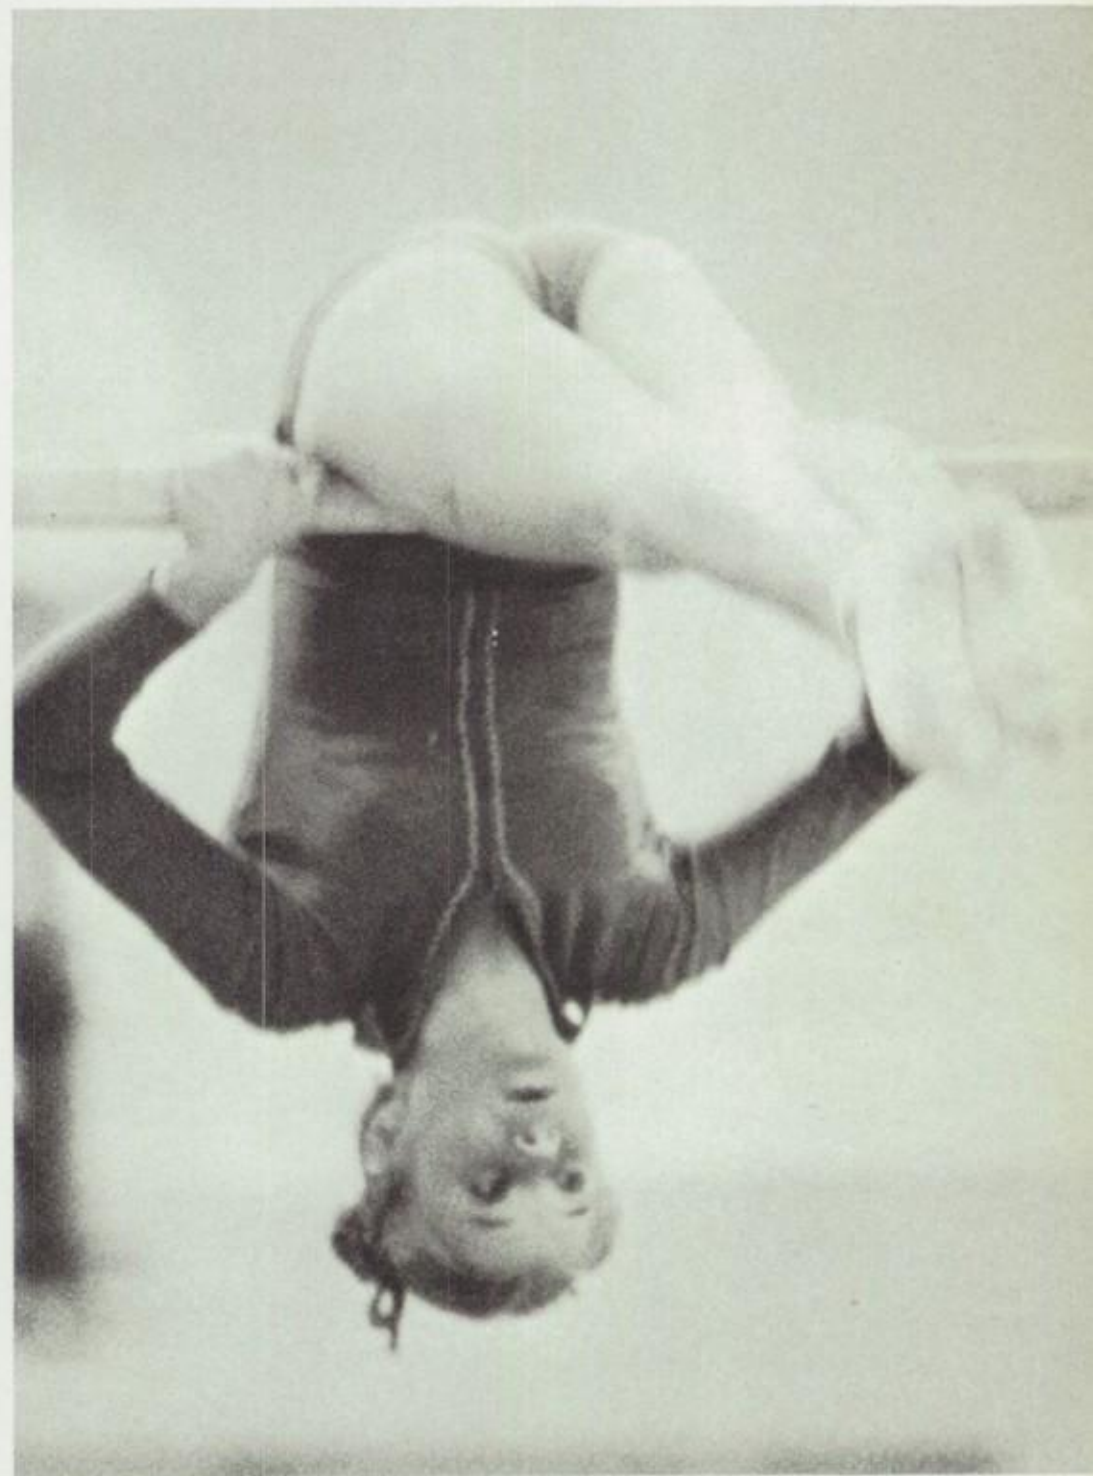

"Next year I anticipate a strong, more experienced team who should be able to take first place in the state meet," Mrs. Boyles said.

Team starved for involvement

Starved for school involvement, the Men's gymnastics team placed last in each of their nine meets.

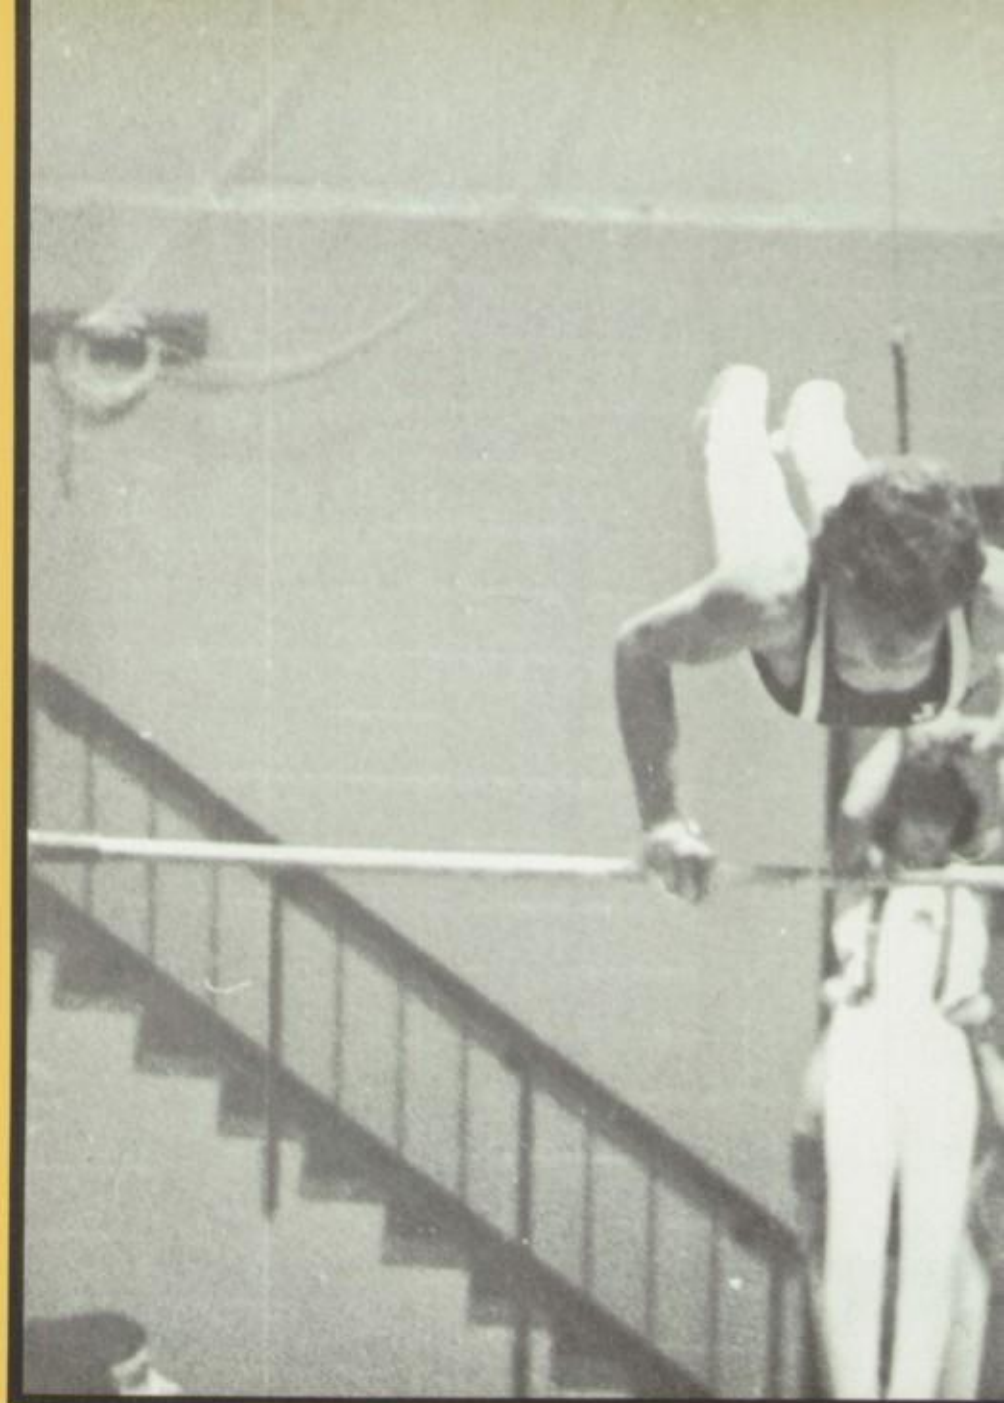

"I think we need more involvement in the sport," said Craig Beaver, '78.

Low meet placement was attributed to the loss of seniors and the small squad. "With seven people, you can't really expect much," Brad Neeley, '77 said.

Rookie Coach Harvey Schneiter filled the position of head coach. He was assisted by Robin Simmons.

"Both the team and coaches have much experience to gain," said Neeley.

Many of the gymnasts felt that gymnastics should become a winter sport again. This would relieve the south gym.

Clear, cool eve awaits climax

A breathless calm ... a gasp ... a cheer ... They've been named.

In the midst of the chilly Kansas winds, under the clear, star-filled sky, we saw our royalty crowned. Paula Spencer and Cory Barron won the titles and we all cheered. Brian Dixon, Debbie Hawkins, Donnie Henderson and Rachel Ward served as attendants.

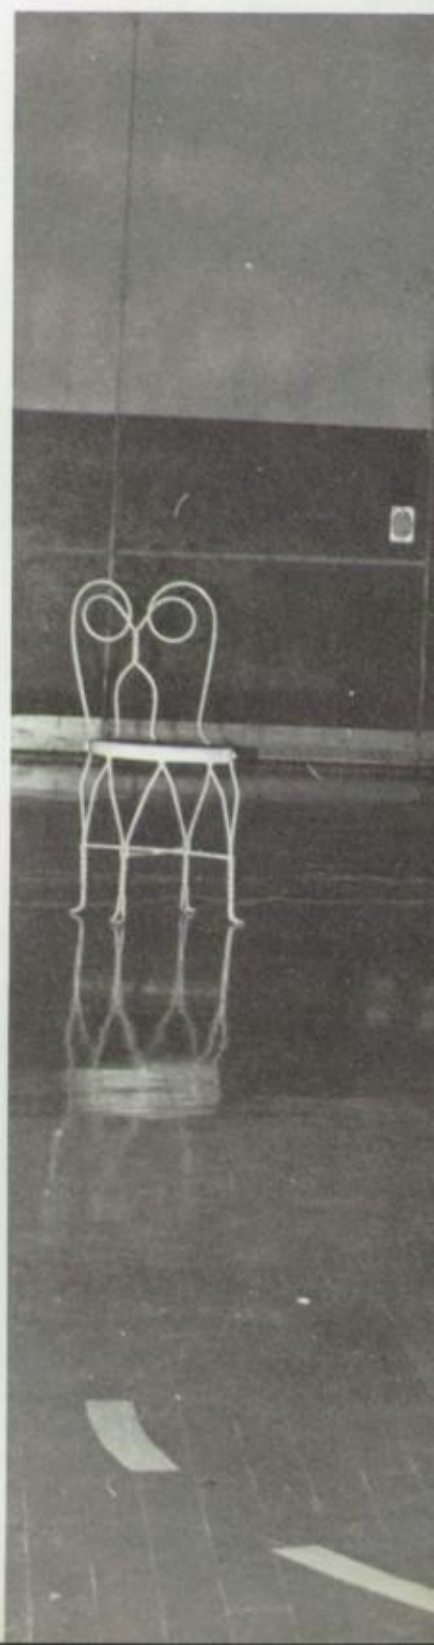

Yet the tension of the evening created by Spirit Week, building decorations and the parade had just begun, for the dream was to defeat the Junction City Blue Jays. The roars swelled, the moans echoed, the dream shattered. The final score-Blue Jays 26, Home 6.

Despite the loss, Cory and Paula went on to reign over "Nights on Broadway" with music by "Dynaflow."

The beginning ... the excitement ... the end of another Homecoming.

Concerts carve year for bands

Slicing up the year with various concerts, the 121-member instrumental music program consisted of stage, studio, concert, pep and marching bands and orchestra.

Led by department head Jim Sellards, the varied bands performed at home games, played music in the library and at the musical, gave lunch concerts in the cafeteria and traveled to K-State for the Central State Jazz Festival.

Play competes for patronage

Sandwiched between sports activities and Homecoming preparations, the fall play, "Diary of Anne Frank," still managed to present two performances.

The play was based upon the diary of a young Jewish girl in Holland during the 1940's. Her family was forced into hiding for three years because of the Nazi invasion. The play was the culmination of weeks of work by cast, crew and directors.

Hot production fires audiences

What began as a "Towering Inferno" turned out to be only a trickle of smoke when the winter play was almost cancelled.

With rehearsals for Tennessee Williams' play "Summer and Smoke" already underway, a dispute arose over dialogue considered unsuitable for high school audiences. After a slight revision of the script, the show was allowed to proceed.

Despite the setback, "Summer and Smoke" set audiences afire, justifying hours of preparation by cast and crew.

Old west seen at it's best

One of the Old West's most colorful characters appeared on stage Feb. 19, 20, 23, 24 and 26 with the production of Richard Morris's UNSINKABLE MOLLY BROWN.

Molly is an illiterate girl who vows she will someday be rich and famous. She accomplishes this by marrying Johnny "Leadville" Brown and taking Denver's wealthy Pennsylvania Avenue by storm. When she is rejected by local snobs, she switches to Europe and is triumphant among the aristocrats.

Molly leaves the temptations of Monte Carlo and rejoins her husband who has become fed up with the European royalty. Her unsinkability is demonstrated when she survives the 1912 TITANIC disaster, and she is reconciled with her husband in Leadville, Colorado.

Dedication on the part of the cast and crew resulted in standing ovations for every performance.

Assemblies add tempting tidbit

Assemblies provided a tasty tidbit to tempt the palate of students tired of the daily routine of school life.

Pep assemblies promoted spirit for athletic events. Introduced before the student body at assemblies were StuCo and cheerleader hopefuls. Programs were also given by the Vocal and Instrumental Music Department, StuCo and special academic groups.

Changes occurred in the traditional Homecoming, Snow Ball and King and Queen of Courts assemblies. All three were held in the gym rather than in the auditorium as in past years.

Crews add fun to detail work

In a large auditorium or cafeteria basement, scramble together weeks of planning, hours of hard work and tons of fun. Sprinkle in splatters of paint and sawdust. Trim with an occasional ping pong tournament during break time. Bake quickly in the behind-the-scenes dedication of a creative few.

Serve proudly as background scenery, decorations and other details of Homecoming, Snow Ball, King and Queen of Courts, Junior-Senior Prom and the plays; "Diary of Anne Frank," "Summer and Smoke," and the musical, "Unsinkable Molly Brown."

Charger Spirit jolts campus

To promote school spirit and develop and encourage good sportsmanship was the purpose of the Charger Spirit club.

The club, headed by a committee appointed by StuCo, sold newly designed jerseys and T-shirts. These shirts have a Charger head in purple on a white background with the words "Topeka West" printed at the top. Charger Spirit helped to involve more students at West.

Stuco molds school spirit

Molding many well organized activities, Stuco offered a lot of spirit to the 1976-77 school year.

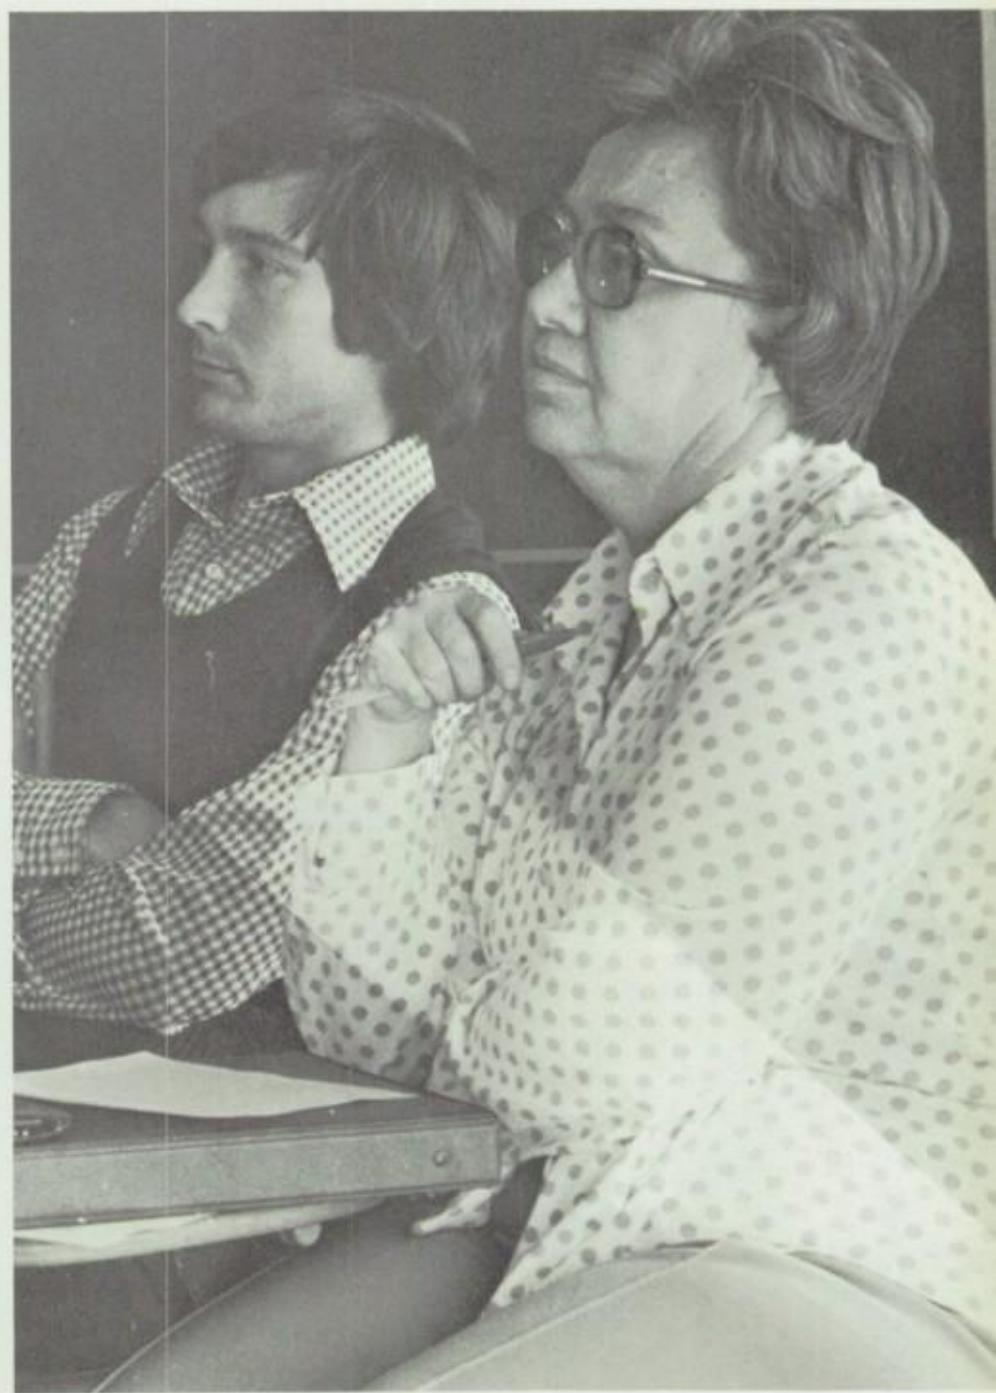

Selling T-shirts, jerseys and visors during orientation week was an early project conducted by the group.

Also included were Homecoming, Snow Ball, Queen of Courts, Charger Spirit, student exchanges and community service projects.

Organizations boost morale

Booster Club made up of students' parents, offered a lot of support to all activities at Topeka West.

Catalina Club, sponsored by Miss Georgia Patterson, learned many new synchronized skills. Under the leadership of Pam Brown, Paula Smith, and Dee Dee Hunt, '77, they practiced each Tuesday at Topeka High pool, preparing for their annual Catalina show.

Thespians was a club to promote theatre, sponsored by Roger Ramseyer and Jay Ives. Jayne Whitehead, '77, president said that the membership climbed this year from 20 to 30 students.

Recognized by their white T-shirts with a stop watch and the school name printed in purple was the Goodtimers Club, sponsored by Dave Alexander. Timing the relays and helping run the swim meets, they provided assistance for the swim team.

Clubs sample exotic customs

Informing students of the cultures and customs of foreign countries was the main goal of Spanish, French and German clubs.

Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Frances Braun and Mrs. Frances Chaney, entered float in the Homecoming parade and took first place. They also participated in Fun Night, International Dinner, Christmas caroling and many other service activities.

German Club, with the help of Norman Misner, was active in several different projects. Activities included a Homecoming float, Octoberfest, International Dinner, Gobble Grams and some bake sales.

French Club started the year by having a picnic to elect new officers. They also went Christmas caroling, sold imported perfume as a money-making project and attended the International Dinner.

Clubs cultivate pot pourri of student interests

The Host and Hostess Club, sponsored by Mrs. Peggy Broucek, ushered at plays, musicals, and open house. These 16 members, under the leadership of president Peggy Hamm and vice president Theresa Schooley, '78, entered a float in the Homecoming parade and spent time on fund-raising projects.

AFS provided a better self-understanding as students learned of other cultures. They organized the plans necessary to have an exchange student from Finland. They also had fund-raising projects to send a Topeka West student abroad next year.

Preparing themselves for the future, learning leadership and having fun is the motto for the FHA Club, Future Homemakers of America. They held service projects and surprise membership parties and prepared a float for the Homecoming parade.

The NFL Annual Awards Banquet and the Topeka West debate tournament were some of the activities that the National Forensic League, sponsored by Jim Payne, held throughout the year.

The purpose of FMCC, was to expose high school students to the wide range of opportunities in the medical field: to let students observe medical professions in natural settings and to give students an opportunity to share with others who have common interests. They planned field trips and sponsored fund-raising projects and social activities.

"Eat, drink, and be merry!"

Variety is the spice of life!

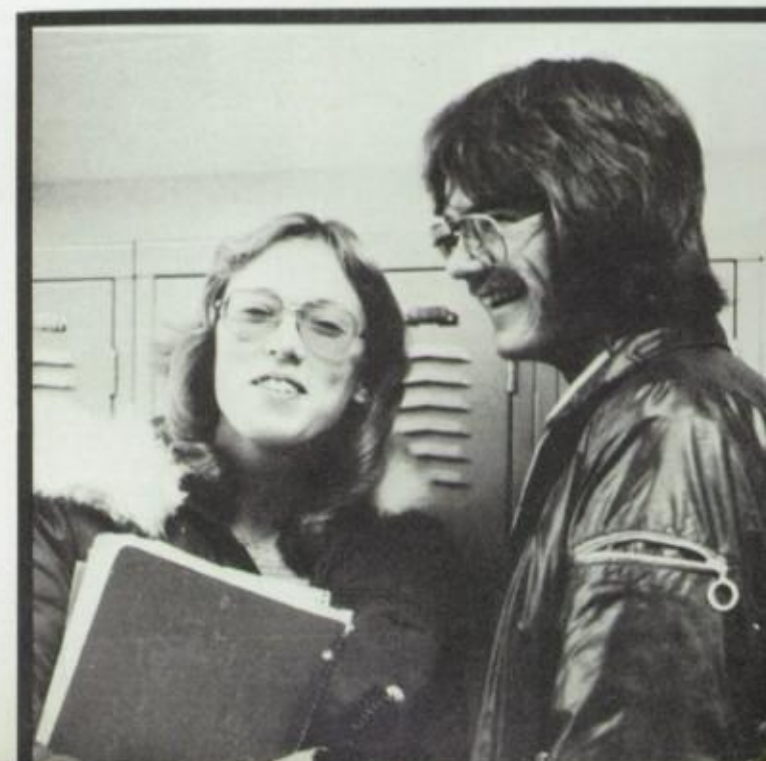

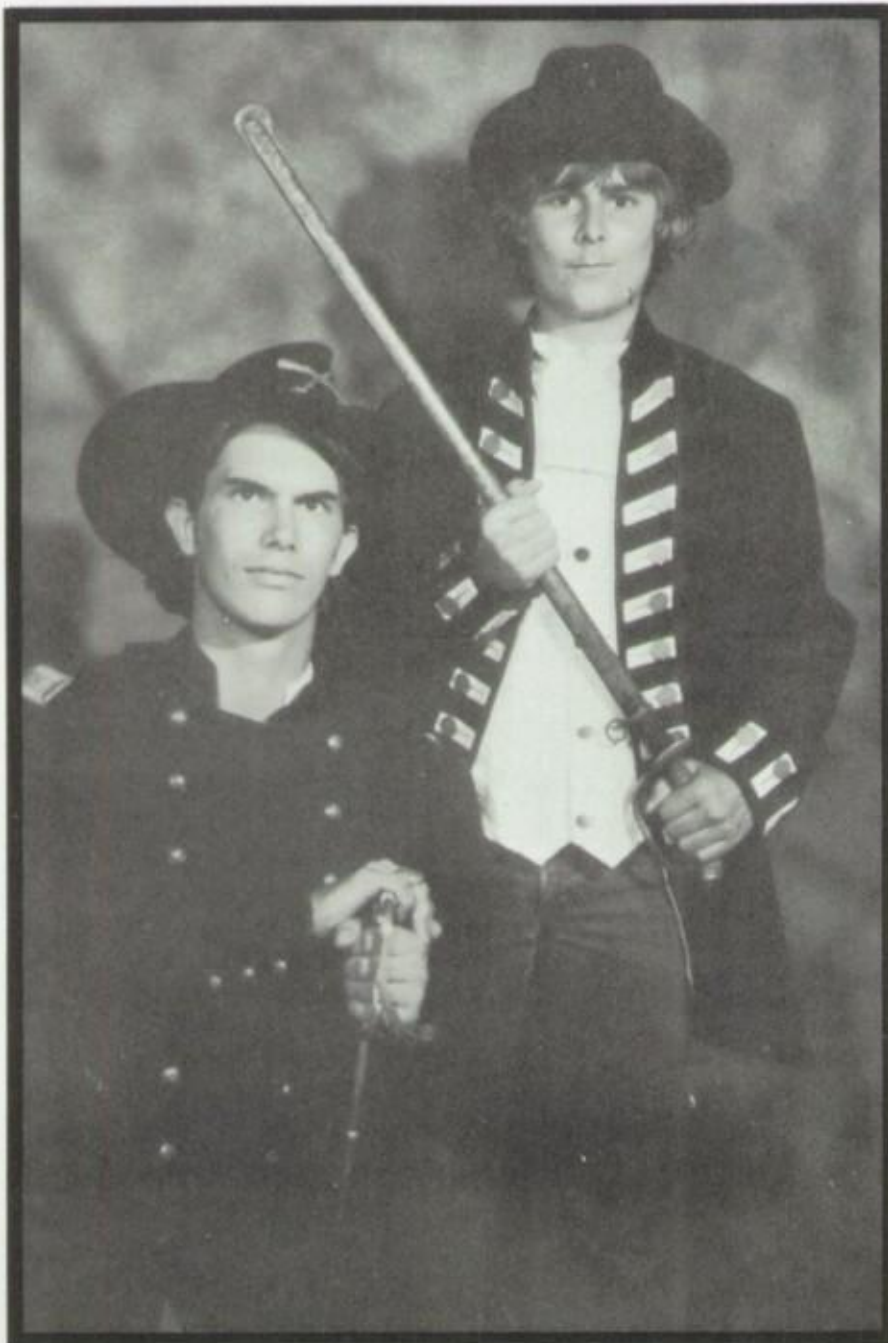

A variety of activities provided a tossed salad of events for students to choose from.

Skiing, swimming and sunbathing filled the summer months, but who could ever forget the controversial "Senior Men's" party in the fall which captured the public's attention and censure.

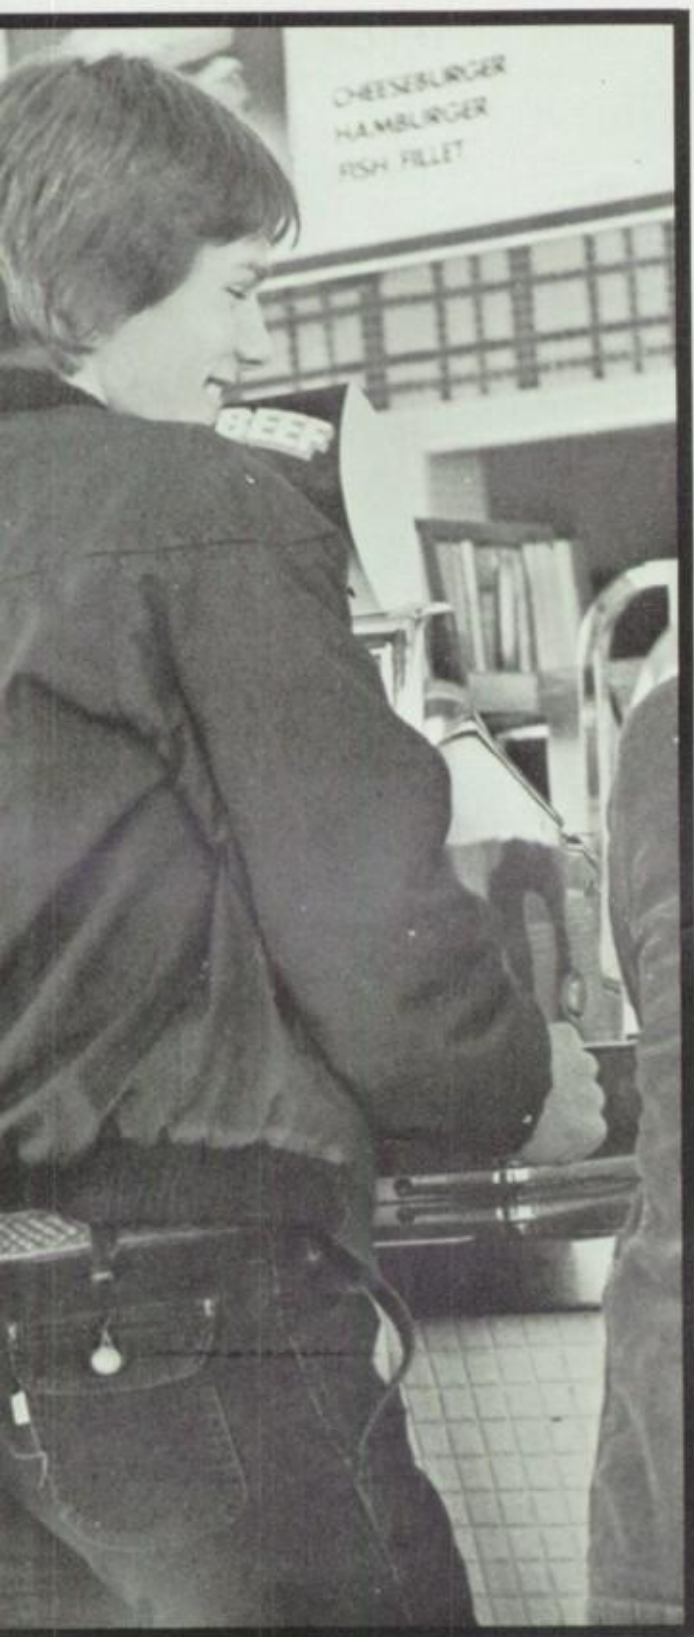

This was the year of the swine flu inoculations and the election of Jimmy Carter, president; Walter "Fritz-Mondale, vice-president. Also in the headlines was the execution of convicted murderer Gary Gilmore. This was the first execution in the US in 10 years.

National Honor Society made its appearance as did the mysterious toilet papering of campus trees. Parties, both school and private, were visible, but mostly students spent there time just enjoying each other's company.

As this luncheon draws to a close, and you have digested everything ...

You are now ready to depart, and the proprietors await your summoning ...

"Check, Please!"

Now that you have consumed the many courses of this Chevalier Luncheon, we hope that our chefs and cooks have prepared it to your taste, and nourished your appetite for memories of 1976-1977. As you know, there are as many different kinds of people as there are different kinds of food, and we have gotten to know quite a few, all of whom are special in their own way.

The seniors have ripened in many ways throughout their years in high school. We hope that you will continue to find the true taste of life and that this book has quenched your thirst for memories of the past year.

There are many acknowledgements for us to make. First, we must give our compliments to Duane Shufelberger, our adviser and head chef, for his patience and guidance. Without his supervision, we might have bitten off more than we could chew! Also, we thank student teacher Mark Nusbaum for his delightful contributions. His additives were greatly appreciated. Our thanks also go to Gery Kauffman and Steve Maxwell, our yearbook consultants, for being as enthusiastic about the theme as we are.

Finally, we wish to express our thanks to you, the students of Topeka West, for providing the ingredients for this Chevalier Luncheon. There was always the fear that too many cooks might spoil the broth, but everyone blended well!

We have truly enjoyed being your host for the year.

Bon Appetite!
